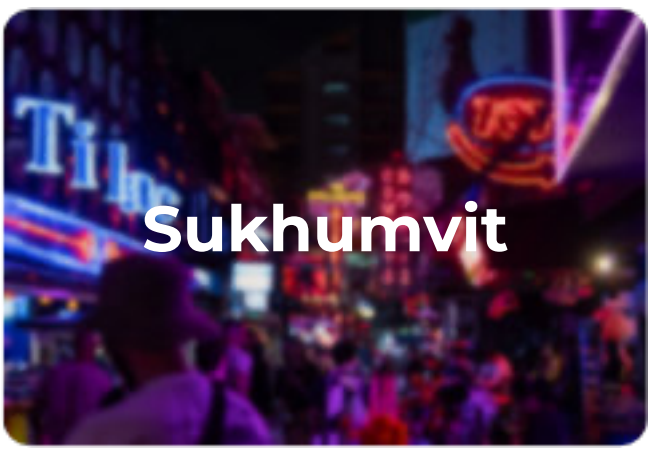
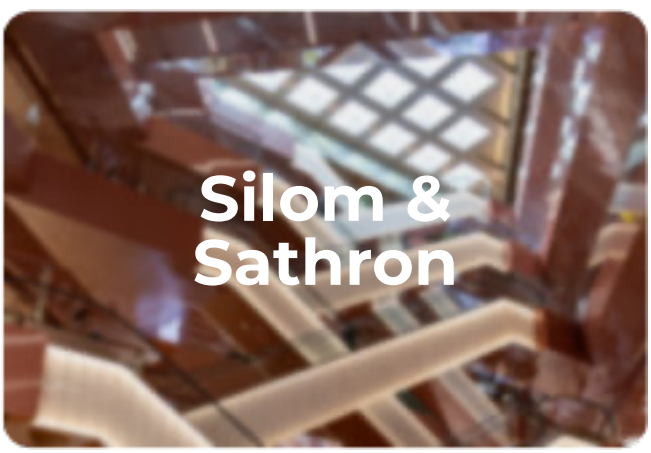
The Vegan Foodie Guide to Thailand

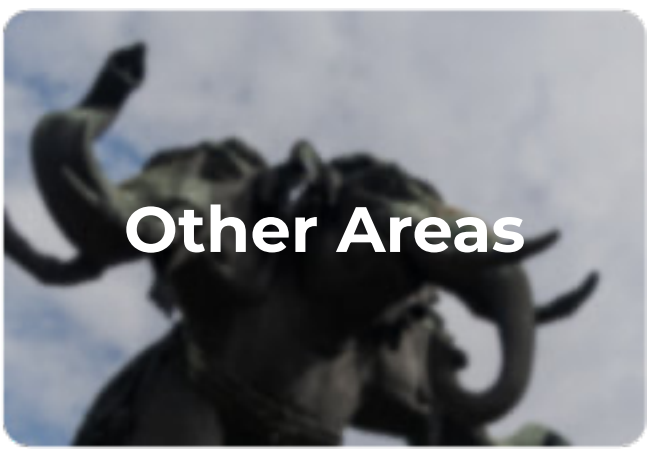
Bangkok
กรุงเทพมหานคร

Bangkok is a sprawling metropolis where the vegan food scene is as diverse as the city itself, offering everything from high-end Thai classics to creative cafes. The vibrant Sukhumvit area is packed with stylish spots like Golden State Sushi and Vistro, while near the Grand Palace, you can refuel at local gems like Veganerie and Kem-Kon after exploring the temples.

Click to jump to area





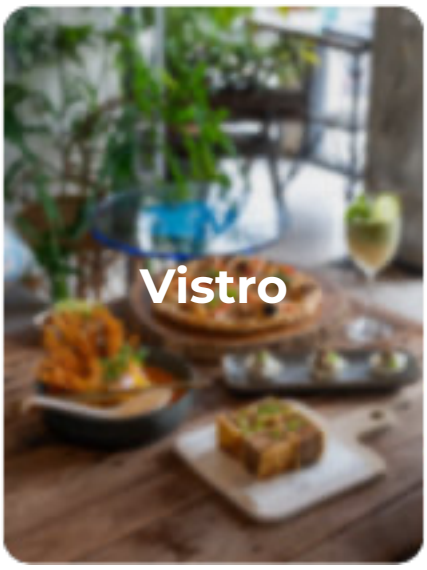


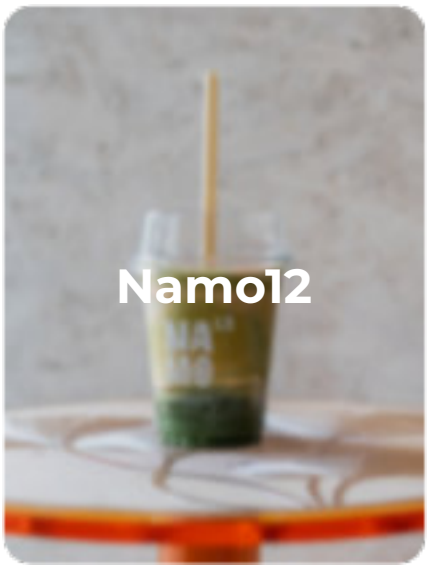
Area Directory - Bangkok

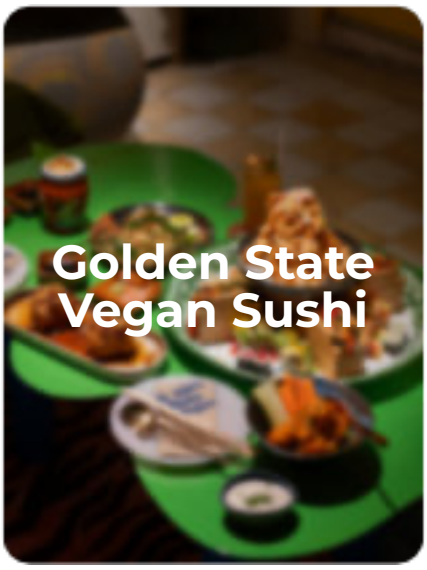
Sukhumvit

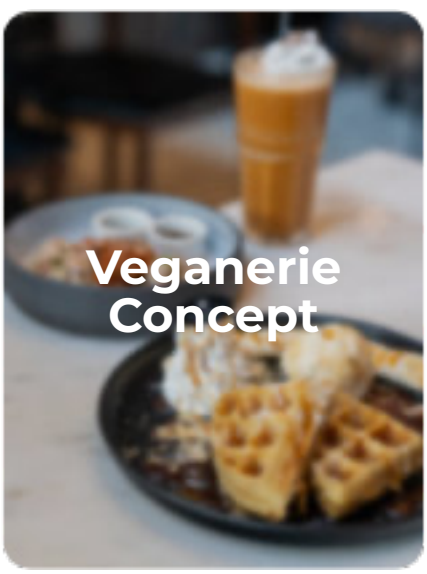
สุขุมวิท

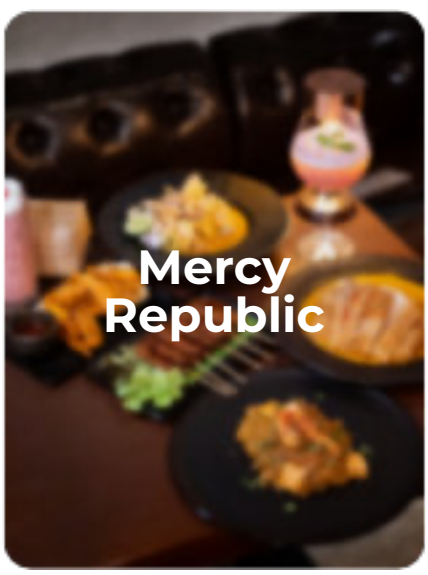
Click to jump to restaurant

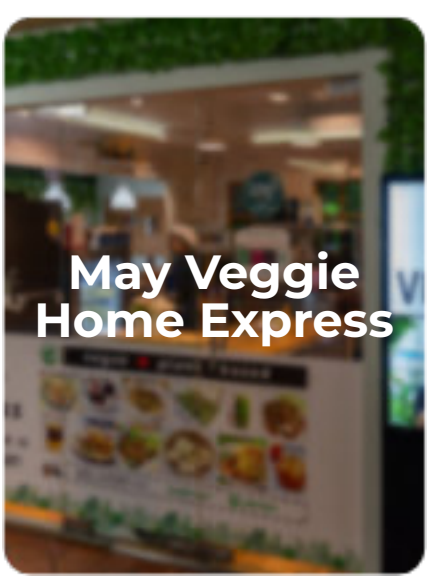


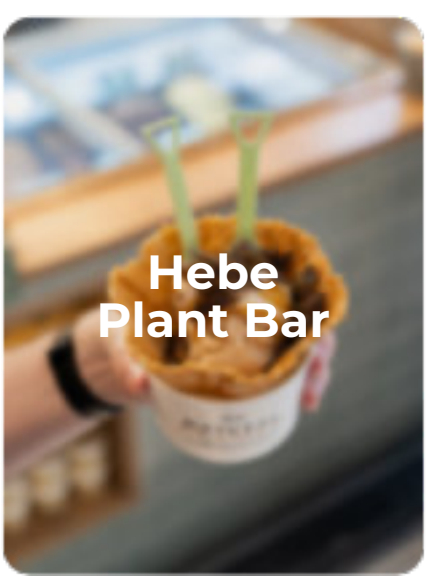












Bangkok — Sukhumvit

VISTRO

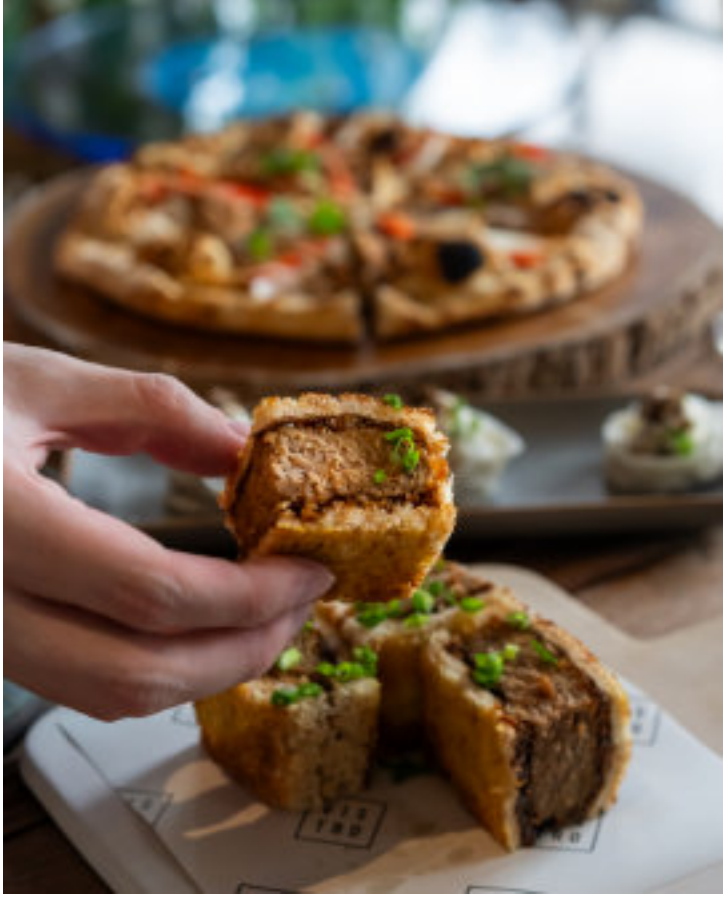
วิสโทร

Vegan

Restaurant, Creative

฿฿฿

B L D N



If you're after an elevated and creative vegan meal in Bangkok, you absolutely have to go to Vistro. Walked up the beautiful plant- and art-filled staircase, and you'll enter the modern greenhouse-like Vistro, filled with lots of natural light and natural material decor.

They serve globally inspired fusion food, taking familiar Thai and international flavours and turning them into something new and exciting. Many of the dishes are creative, but my personal favourite is their 'Vagyu Sando'. It's their version of a Japanese wagyu sandwich, made with a Beyond Meat katsu patty, tonkatsu sauce, and toasted wholewheat bread. It was so meaty and flavourful. It's seemingly simple, but made to perfection. That dish is relatively pricey, but it was worth every penny for a special treat. I also tried the Khao Soi 2.0, a rich and tangy vegan take on the classic Northern Thai curry noodle soup, which was also great.

Beyond the standout dishes, the wild truffle dumplings has creamy and fragrant fillings, and the butter masala pizza was also flavourful but could benefit with a bit more sauce. To drink, I had the non-alcoholic Brazilian mojito which is made with lime, vegan honey and condensed milk.

After your meal, when you head down the stairs, you'll find that they've opened a matcha bar called Namo12 right at the entrance.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Vistro is very conveniently located near some of Bangkok's best shopping. You're just a short walk from the huge and popular Emporium and EmQuartier shopping centres, making Vistro a great spot to relax and refuel after a day of retail therapy.

INFORMATION

46/1 Sukhumvit 24 Alley, Klongton Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

NAMO 12

นาโม 12

Vegan

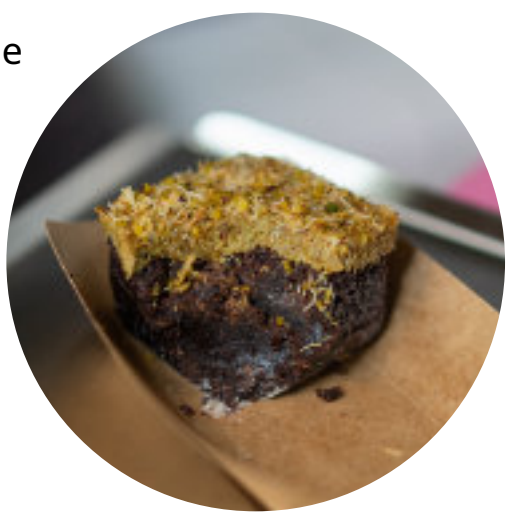
Takeaway, Quick Bites

฿฿฿

B L D N

Located just downstairs from Vistro, this takeaway matcha place is full of interesting flavours like white chocolate matcha and blue jasmine matcha. I went for the Thai tea matcha and it was incredible. The matcha and Thai tea flavours were balanced, and they sweetened it with vegan condensed milk and whipped cream.

Beyond the amazing drinks, they also have a small selection of quick desserts that are worth trying. The Dubai brownie was surprisingly good. The brownie itself was rich with chocolate pieces mixed in. While I thought the pistachio flavour on top could have been a little stronger, it was still a fantastic treat.



INFORMATION

1st Floor, 46/1 Sukhumvit 24 Alley, Khwaeng Khlong Tan, Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

GOLDEN STATE VEGAN SUSHI

โกลเด้นสเตท วีแกน ซูชิ

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Japanese Fusion

Golden State Vegan Sushi makes some delicious fusion style sushi. This all vegan sushi bar also opens late until midnight, together with its central location, making it a great spot if you are looking for a late night dinner spot.

You'll be welcomed by the funky, retro vibe with colourful decor. They sometimes have live DJs, which adds to the fun atmosphere. They also have a small shop inside that sells merchandise and handmade crafts from local artists, which is a lovely touch.

Creative sushi rolls are their main offering. I tried the Tokyo Tower sushi platter, which has a massive 36 pieces of combo sushi that’s perfect for sharing and trying a bit of everything. My personal favourites were the Volcano roll, which had a creamy, spicy sauce over what tasted like crispy tempura crab, and the Caterpillar roll, featuring an incredible umami eggplant that mimics 'unagi' (eel).

Other than sushi, you'll also find Japan-inspired burgers and tacos. The appetisers/small bites here are also great, including the Tokyo Fry Tofu (sesame dressing with crispy shallots) and Golden wild nuggs (buffalo cauliflower with a creamy ranch dip) are both great. Finish the meal with one of their signature cocktails like the Malibu Sunset or Piña Colada, both of which can be made into a non-alcoholic mocktail as well.

The prices here are definitely on the higher side for Bangkok, but for the high quality of food and their creativity, it was worth it for me. The combination of cool vibes, amazing food, and creative drinks makes this a must-visit spot for foodies visiting Bangkok.

▶ A quick heads-up: if you're using the Grab or Bolt app, double-check the address, as it took me to their old location which was about 15 minutes away!

INFORMATION

3rd Floor RR Space, Sukhumvit 33 Alley, Khlong Tan Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

VEGANERIE CONCEPT

วีแกนเนอรี คอนเซ็ปต์

Vegan

Restaurant, Fusion

฿฿฿

B L D N

Veganerie is a vegan restaurant chain in Bangkok. Each of them have slightly different decor and vibe, but they all serve comfort food made vegan. This branch is tucked away on a quiet street behind Emporium shopping centre and Benchasiri Park.

The whole place is filled with plants and inspiring vegan quotes on the walls, and the atmosphere is just calm and relaxing. It has both indoor seatings and a few tables on their outdoor patio. You'll also find a shop section and a dessert cabinet if you want to buy some vegan goodies to go.

The menu here is creative, mixing Western comfort food with Thai flavours in dishes like Tom Yum mac and cheese. I decided to try the kimchi dumplings. While the texture was meaty, the flavour was on the simpler side than I expected. However, their desserts like the banoffee waffle I tried was great with fluffy texture and salted caramel ice cream. The drinks are also high quality like the creamy Thai milk tea smoothie I had.

INFORMATION

35 2 Sukhumvit Rd, Khlong Tan, Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

MERCY REPUBLIC

เมอร์ซี รีพลับบลิค

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant + Bar, Fusion

Tucked away on a side street in the bustling Sukhumvit night life area, this all-vegan restaurant and bar serves up some Thai fusion dishes under a romantic and moody vibe Perfect for a date or a late-night meal.

The menu is full of interesting Thai fusion dishes, and I was so excited to try a few of them. I absolutely loved the khao soi ramen, which was incredibly creamy and packed with flavour. The tonkatsu panang curry was also great. The texture on the vegan katsu was fantastic against the rich, house-made curry. Another standout was the tom yum goong pasta, which cleverly captures all the hot and sour notes of the classic soup in a pasta form.

► This place is not shy with spice! Some dishes like tom yum pasta and khao soi ramen are spicy and cannot be adjusted. Ask staff for non-spicy options if you don't have a heat tolerance.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Check out the nightlife of Soi Cowboy and the big shopping centre Terminal 21 after your meal.

INFORMATION

120/17 ถนน สุขุมวิท Khlong Toei Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

VSTREET

วีสตรีทเอ็มไพร์

Vegan

Food Court, Thai

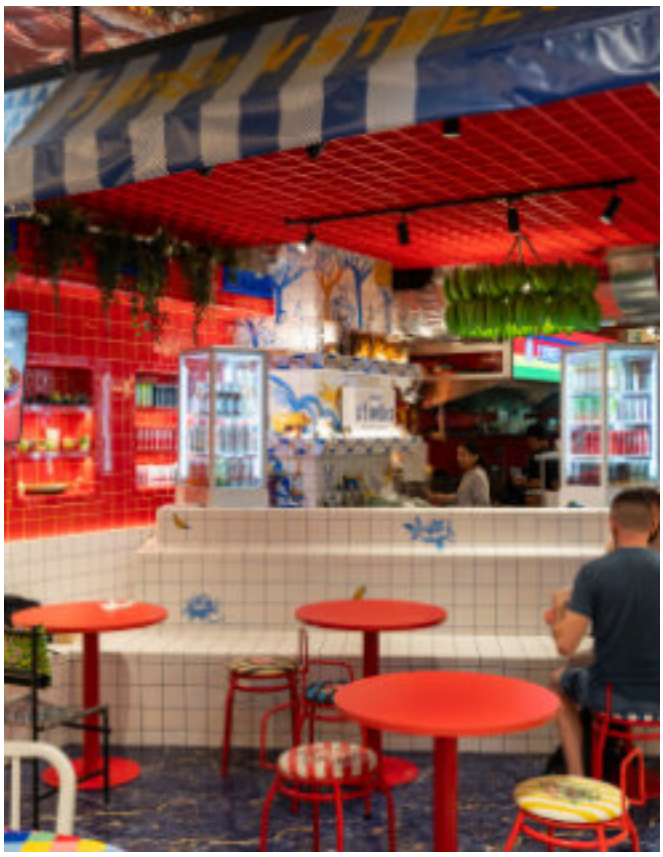
฿฿฿

B L D N

If you find yourself in the Emsphere shopping centre, you have to check out Vstreet on the ground floor. It's the more casual sister brand to the fantastic Vistro restaurant, set up for quick and easy meals. You can’t miss its bright red and white shop on the ground floor food court level. Don’t let the casual vibe fool you, though, the food here is absolutely top-notch, so good that it was one of the few places I came back to for a second meal on my trip.

The menu is focused on classic Thai dishes, and they nail every single one. You'll find favourites like pad thai, boat noodles, and Hainanese chicken rice.

For me, the absolute must-try dish is the 'egg' omelette that's served with one of their fried rice. I tried it with both the tom yum fried rice and the drunken fried rice, and while both were delicious, it was the omelette that stole the show. It's perfectly crispy on the outside while the inside stays a perfect omelette texture. Another standout was the V Street Lion's Mane Prik Paow - a total flavour bomb made with lion's mane mushrooms, tempeh, thai basil and more.



I also tried their boat noodles, fried dumplings, and a stir-fry with garlic and pepper 'pork,' and honestly, everything was great. Vstreet is honestly the perfect spot to easily try some high-quality Thai food. I can't recommend it enough.

INFORMATION

Ground Floor, Emsphere, Sukhumvit Rd, Khlong Tan, Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

WAKI WAKI

วากิวากิ

Vegetarian

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Japanese

If you're looking for an authentic Japanese meal in the Sukhumvit area, Waki Waki is a wonderful little spot I really enjoyed. It’s a tiny place, with only a couple of tables and some bar seating. Just remember to specify that you’re vegan when you order, as they offer both vegetarian and vegan options.

► The seating is very limited, so I'd recommend booking ahead or visiting outside of peak lunch and dinner hours to secure a spot.

I tried their nigiri set. What I loved is that it doesn’t try to mimic seafood. Instead, it celebrates the vegetables themselves. The set included pieces like beetroot that looks like tuna, yellow pickled radish, grilled mushroom, and avocado with sesame dressing. For the small rolls that come with it, for vegans, you can choose either avocado or cucumber rolls. The set also comes with a delicious miso soup.

INFORMATION

46/1 Sukhumvit 24 Alley, Khlong Tan, Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

MAY VEGGIE HOME EXPRESS

เมย์ เวจจี โฮม เอ็กซ์เพรส

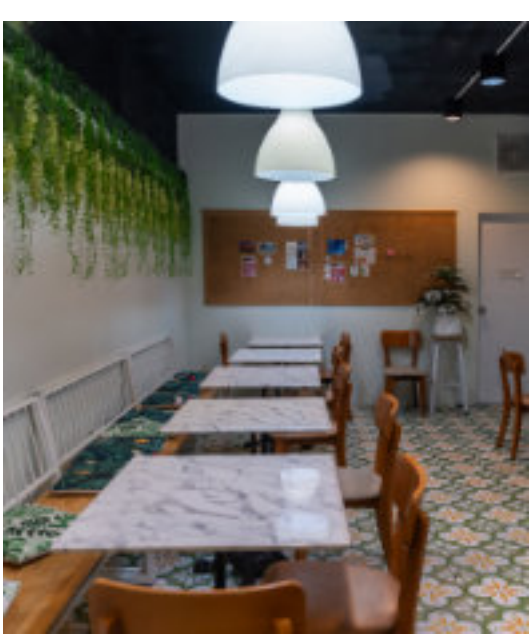
Vegan

Restaurant, Thai

฿฿฿

B L D N

Located just about a 10-minute walk from Sukhumvit/Asok station, May Veggie Home Express is a bright and clean vegan cafe that's perfect for a casual lunch or takeaway when you're exploring the area. It's part of the May Veggie Home family, which has been a staple in Bangkok's vegan scene for years.



The menu offers a great mix of classic Thai dishes made fully vegan. You can expect to find all the hits, like pad krapow, khao soi, and of course, pad Thai. They also serve some western-style comfort food like burgers if you're craving something different.

INFORMATION

45 ประสานมิตรพลาซ่า ซัน 2, Soi Sukhumvit 23, Khlong Toei Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

HEBE PLANT BAR

ไอศครีมฮีบี

Vegan

Takwaway, Dessert

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you're craving ice cream while shopping at EmQuartier, stop by Hebe Plant Bar. It's a great all-vegan ice cream spot with a great variety of flavours, from classic chocolates to more unique options like the cheesecake one I tried. Staff is friendly and happy to give samples. I treated myself to the cheesecake flavour in a vegan waffle bowl. For toppings, I went with chopped chocolate and praline sauce.

► Located right next to it is another vegan ice cream shop - Molly Ally. So definitely try out a few different flavours before deciding!

INFORMATION

695 G floor, Sukhumvit Rd, Khlong Tan Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

Bangkok — Sukhumvit

PRAOW

พราว

Vegan-option

฿฿฿

B L D N

Takeaway, Dessert

Praow is a chain shop specialising in coconut yoghurt that has a few branches in major shopping centres, like the one I visited at Emporium. While the price is a bit little high for Bangkok, it's a great and convenient option for a vegan dessert. The base coconut yoghurt is vegan, so is the special flavours at the time of my visit (matcha). On the menu, the toppings are vegan unless clearly marked with a milk symbol.

I went for the matcha soft serve and added toppings of toasted coconut mix, pistachio sauce, and one of their soft-baked vegan matcha cookies, which they warmed up for me. The yoghurt itself was smooth though not overly rich. The real highlight for me was the warm, soft cookie combined with the nutty pistachio sauce.

INFORMATION

Multiple locations including Emsphere, Emporium, Central Pinklao Department, Central Lardprao

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

VEGGIOLOGY

You can expect to find nutritious smoothie bowls, salads, sandwiches, and of course, a wide variety of fresh juices at Veggiology. It’s a great choice if you're looking for something light, fresh, and wholesome.

KAEK KAO KUA

This charming, family-run eatery is celebrated for its authentic and flavourful plant-based Thai food. Options include rich and creamy khao soi and homemade Thai noodles. Many visitors praise it as a hidden gem for delicious, heartfelt Thai cooking.

GOVINDA

Unlike the Hare Krishna affiliated restarant of the same name, this restaurant in Sukhumvit serves Italian food, like pizza and pasta with vegan cheese.

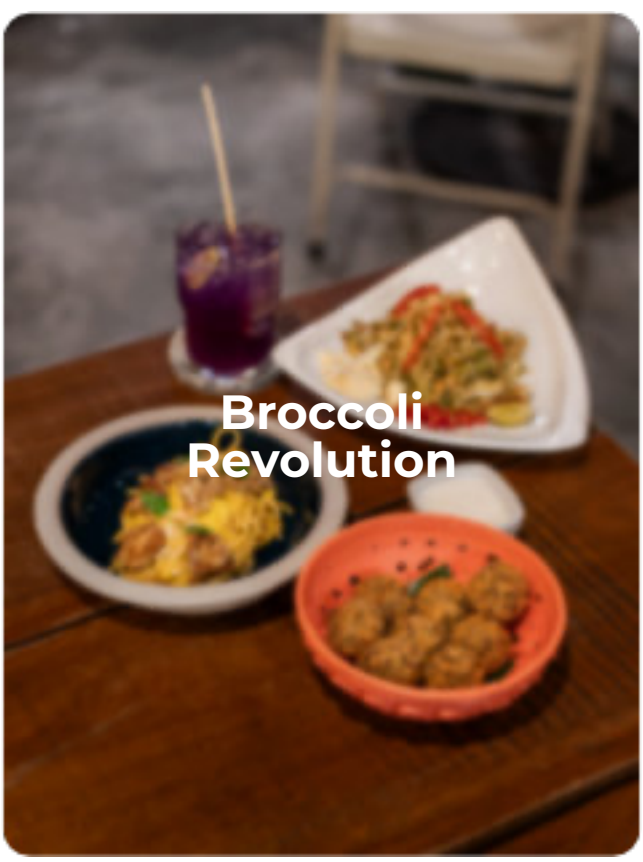
MENSHO TOKYO

This is a popular ramen joint from Tokyo, Japan. While it serves meat, it has vegan options like black tantan noodles, yuzu shio ramen and spicy yuzu ramen.

Area Directory - Bangkok

Ekkamai & Thong Lor
เอกมัย · ทองหล่อ

Click to jump to restaurant



EKM6

อีเคเอ็ม6

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Community, Cafe + Shop

EKM6 (Every Kind Moment) is this beautiful little community space in Ekkamai that I instantly fell in love with. It’s a welcome vegan-friendly space for you to escape from the busy Bangkok city and relax for an afternoon.

The whole place is built around ethical, eco-conscious living. Here you'll find 2 great vegan cafes, a vegan grocery store, a juice shop, alongside other eco-conscious shops like gym, hair salon, pet groomer and more. It has a wonderfully calm and thoughtful atmosphere, making it a great place to recharge and enjoy some really good food.

I first checked out Kynd Kulture, a cafe with comfortable seating and a laid-back vibe, including some lovely outdoor swing seats overlooking a garden. You'll find western comfort food like burgers, pasta and croissants on the menu. I decided to go with their 4-way mini toasts which includes their creative toppings like pesto + mixes berries, and jackfruit + dill + cashew mayo. Another high light is their BBQ tempeh burger with its flavourful sauce and charcoal bun.

The other cafe, Plant Passion, focuses more on Thai dishes, and its menu is full of amazing-looking stir-fries, noodles, and rice plates. The few dishes I ordered are all amazing, but the garlic 'prawn' stands out for its fragrant garlic and the sweet tangy dip it comes with. It’s exciting to see a community space like EKM6 having two vastly different vegan cafes in one space.

You absolutely have to stop by Plenti while you're there. It's their vegan grocery store, and it is very well-stocked. I found some really interesting vegan snacks and products here that are hard to come by elsewhere, like a mango sticky rice dried fruit snack. It has everything you could need, from pantry staples to special vegan treats. Afterwards, you can stop by Paak, which is the juice shop in EKM6, where I had a refreshing Japanese melon and cantaloupe juice.

INFORMATION

26 Ekkamai 6 Alley, Phra Khanong Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Ekkamai & Thong Lor

NATURE'S CHARM CAFE

เนเจอร์ส ชาร์ม คาเฟ่

Vegan

Cafe, Creative

฿฿฿

B L D N

You've probably seen Nature's Charm products in supermarkets, but I was so excited to find out they have their own vegan cafe right in Bangkok. My visit was even better than I had imagined. It's a beautiful, relaxing two-level space decorated with lots of plants. The menu is huge and incredibly creative, offering everything from Western classics like an all-day breakfast to veganised traditional Thai dishes and even Korean favourites like bibimbap and jjajangmyeon.

I tried to sample a bit of everything, and the food was just next level. Their signature fish & chips is made with banana blossom for a flaky texture, and it came with a minty mashed pea, tartar sauce and chips. As a huge fan of Taiwanese food, I found their Lu Rou Fan (braised pork rice) to be highly authentic. The mix of soy protein, mushrooms, and tofu gives a perfect texture, while the sauce has a great depth of flavours. Another highlight is the Son-in-law eggs, which is a traditional Thai dish with a sweet and tangy sauce, now made vegan with vegan boiled eggs.

► Make sure to check out their shop section which carries their coconut condensed milk, cooking sauces, and even some rare products that are rarely seen outside of Thailand, like matcha spread and sugar-free condensed milk.

For dessert, the matcha crepe cake was an absolute dream, with layers of whipped cream and a rich chocolate drizzle. They have other hard-to-find desserts like macarons and creme brulee. For drinks, the Vietnamese iced coffee uses their own delicious coconut condensed milk.

INFORMATION

Sukhumvit 51 Alley, Khlong Tan Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Ekkamai & Thong Lor

BROCCOLI REVOLUTION

บรอกโคลี เรฟโวลูชัน

Vegan

Restaurant, Modern

฿฿฿

B L D N

Broccoli Revolution is a vegan cafe that specialises on whole, organic ingredients and boasting an "elixir bar" where you can get a range of 'revitalising' juices and smoothies. The ambiance is modern and relaxed, with high ceilings, plenty of natural light, and natural plants. It's a nice spot if you're looking for food that is a bit on the lighter and healthier side.

Their menu is quite diverse, offering a mix of Thai, Asian, Middle Eastern, and European-inspired dishes. Their veggie balls, made with broccoli, beetroot and quinoa, is hearty and surprisingly flavourful. Laphet thoke - a Myanmar fermented tea leaf salad, is another interesting highlight with its unique umami taste, combined with contrasting textures from nuts. However, some Western dishes, like the pumpkin Alfredo pasta I tried, might not always hit the mark with its overcooked pasta and mild-flavoured sauce.

Other than this branch, Broccoli Revolution has two other locations near Phloen Chit station and Saphan Taksin station.

INFORMATION

899 Sukhumvit Rd, Khlong Tan Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

MENU

KHUN CHURN IN WHITE

คุณเชิญ อิน ไวท์

Vegetarian
Restaurant, Thai

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you're ever near the Ekkamai BTS station and craving Thai food, Khun Churn in White is a good option.

The menu is big, covering dishes from all over Thailand. Try one of the Northern Thai dishes like the khao soi, which is a rich and creamy coconut curry noodle soup. Another signature Thai dish to try is the spicy and sour mushroom larb. For vegans, specify when ordering.

ALSO IN THE AREA

Located next to the Ekkmai Gateway shopping centre, which has another vegan option - So Vegan.

INFORMATION

952 Sukhumvit Rd, พระโขนง, Khlong Toei, Bangkok 10110, Thailand

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

PLANTIFUL

This bright, modern, and airy cafe focuses on healthy, whole-food, plant-based meals. Expect to find nutritious and hearty options like smoothie bowls, creative salads, burgers, and baked goods, as well as wellness drinks and fresh juices. One interesting dish I saw there was a crispy 'tuna' sushi.

EARTH HOUSE

If you're looking for a more upscale, thoughtfully prepared meal, Earth House is a beautiful, cozy restaurant with a garden setting. The menu is Mediterranean-inspired and focuses on fresh, organic ingredients, featuring dishes like homemade pastas, mushroom tortellini, and plant-based cheeses. They also have a selection of natural and organic wines.

VEGANO BANGKOK

Tucked away between Thong Lor and Ekkamai, Vegano is a small, welcoming cafe that specialises in vegan Italian comfort food. It’s the perfect place if you’re craving pizzas with vegan cheese and creative toppings, hearty pasta, or satisfying panini.

CARROTS

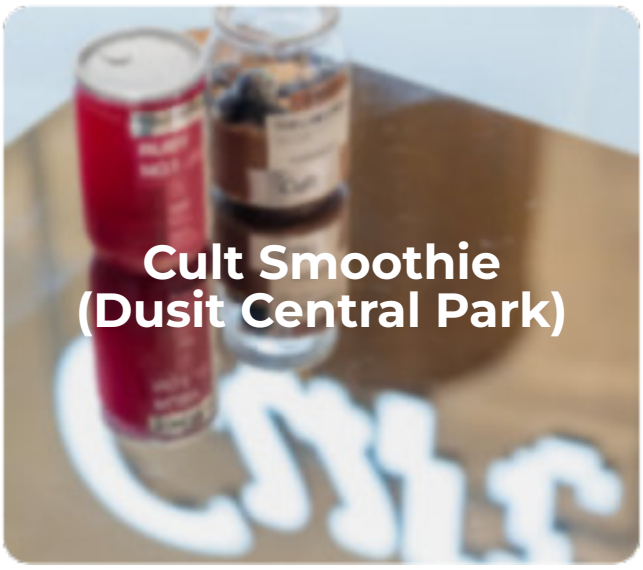
Carrots is a charming vegan bistro. Their menu is quite diverse, offering everything from brunch items like a "not eggs benedict" and vegan omelette, to pizzas, burgers, and Thai classics like green curry.

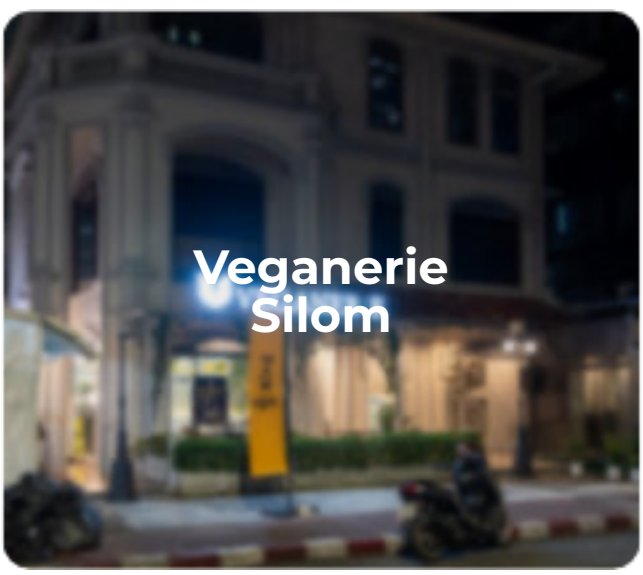
Area Directory - Bangkok

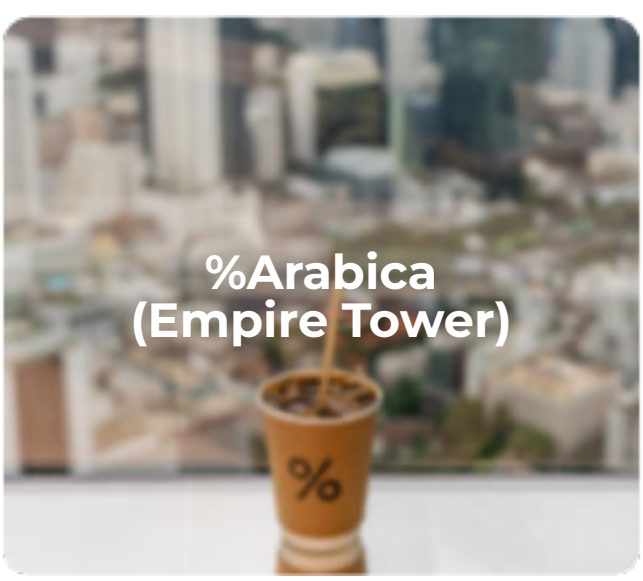
Silom & Sathorn

สีลม · เขตสาทร

Click to jump to restaurant







CULT SMOOTHIE (DUSIT CENTRAL PARK)

Vegan

Quick Bite, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you find yourself exploring the new Dusit Central Park shopping centre and need a quick and healthy pick-me-up, I'd recommend heading up to Cult Smoothies on the 5th floor. It's a modern little spot focused on vegan juices and quick desserts.

Their menu is small and concise. You'll find a selection of cold-pressed juices, chia seed puddings, and tofu mousses. I tried the Ruby No. 1 juice with its tasty mix of beetroot, pineapple, and apple, as well as their chocolate tofu mousse, which was rich and creamy.

Keep in mind that this is a smaller branch; they have another location with a bigger menu that includes options like tom yum rice balls and Korean burrito wraps, which I also really enjoyed on a separate visit.

INFORMATION

5th Floor, Dusit Central, 946 Rama IV Rd, Si Lom, Bang Rak, Bangkok 10500, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Silom & Sathorn

BONITA CAFE & SOCIAL CLUB

โบนิต้า คาเฟ่ แอนด์ โซเชียล คลับ

Vegan

Cafe, Charming

฿฿฿

B L D N

Bonita Cafe and Social Club, which claims to be "owned by two cats", is one of the sweetest shops I've visited. Stepping inside feels like being welcomed into a friend's home. The space is decked out in American memorabilia that the owners have collected from their travels, from license plates to quirky souvenirs. And say hi to one of the cat 'owners' if you see them!

While the atmosphere is the main event, the food is still solid. I had the Bonita club sandwich, which was a hearty stack of scrambled tofu, vegan bacon, avocado, and sun-dried tomatoes on `wholewheat bread, served with some delicious crispy smashed potatoes. My matcha soy latte, which came with a small scoop of ice cream, was a perfectly sweet treat. The food might not make the 'best in Thailand' list, but the entire experience is just so charming and genuinely lovely that I'd highly recommend it.

► The owners have mentioned they may need to relocate in 2026 due to rent. If you visit and learn of a new address, I'd love to know the update!

INFORMATION

100 Soi Pramote (Silom Soi 26), Silom, Bang Rak, Bangkok 10500, Thailand

MENU

MOLLY ALLY

มอลลีอัลลี

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Takeaway, Dessert

Molly Ally is a vegan ice cream chain with locations in EmQuartier and The Circle Ratchaphruek. This time, I visited the branch at Park Silom. While the price is on the higher side, the quality is definitely worth it.

You can expect to find interesting flavours like strawberry crumble and the chocolate hazelnut praline. Staff is friendly and will happily let you sample some flavours before deciding. The ice cream is creamy and flavourful. For toppings, I got the sunflower butter crumble, which was so rich and buttery, and some classic biscoff biscuits.

► They are cashless, so make sure you have a credit card.

INFORMATION

Ground floor, Park Silom, 1 Convent Rd, สีลม, Bang Rak, Bangkok 10500, Thailand

MENU

VEGANERIE SILOM

วีแกนเนอรี สีลม

Vegan ฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Comfort Food

As one of several branches in Bangkok, Veganerie is always a reliable choice if you're looking for a comfortable and delicious vegan meal. This branch in Silom has a bright, modern, and welcoming interior, making it a great spot for a hearty meal or just a quick dessert fix.

The menu covers everything from Western-style burgers, pastas, and all-day breakfast dishes like smoothie bowls and pancakes, to popular Thai favourites. If you are looking for something sweet, try one of their famous waffles and ice cream sundaes.

INFORMATION

เลขที 651,653,655,657 661 บ้านสีลม ห้องเลขที A26 ชั้นที 01 663 Si Lom Rd, Si Lom, Bang Rak, Bangkok 10500, Thailand

MENU

theCOMMONS

เดอะคอมมอนส์

Vegan-option ฿฿฿

B L D N

Collective, Quick Bites

If you find yourself in the Sala Daeng area, theCOMMONS is a trendy, modern community space. While it isn't particularly vegan friendly, I was happy to discover a few vegan desserts and treats there.

For desserts, Guss is an ice cream shop that offers some non-dairy options like yuzus and lemonade. Nearby, a Taiwanese dessert stall called QQ Desserts had some unique vegan choices. I tried their sweet red bean soy milk drink and it was quite good. And if you have visited EKM6, you'll see a familiar juice shop here - Paak juice bar - which is the same one that operates in EKM6.

INFORMATION

126 Sala Daeng Rd, Si Lom, Bang Rak, Bangkok 10500, Thailand

%ARABICA (EMPIRE TOWER)

อาราบิก้า แบงค็อก เอ็มไพร์ ทาวเวอร์

Vegan-option

฿฿฿

B L D N

Coffee, Hidden

If you're looking for coffee with one of the best views in Bangkok, you have to check out %Arabica on the 55th floor of the Empire Tower. Although this is not really a vegan spot, it's a stunning hidden gem that I feel like it's worth checking out.

Finding the entrance is part of the fun. It's tucked away on the ground floor, where you find the door with the word "Into EA" to swipe and open it. Walk through the galaxy-like corridor, and you'll find express elevators that can take you up to the 55th floor. This %Arabica is minimalist, with an incredible panoramic city views. And unlike other observatory, the 'entrance fee' is only a cup of coffee.

INFORMATION

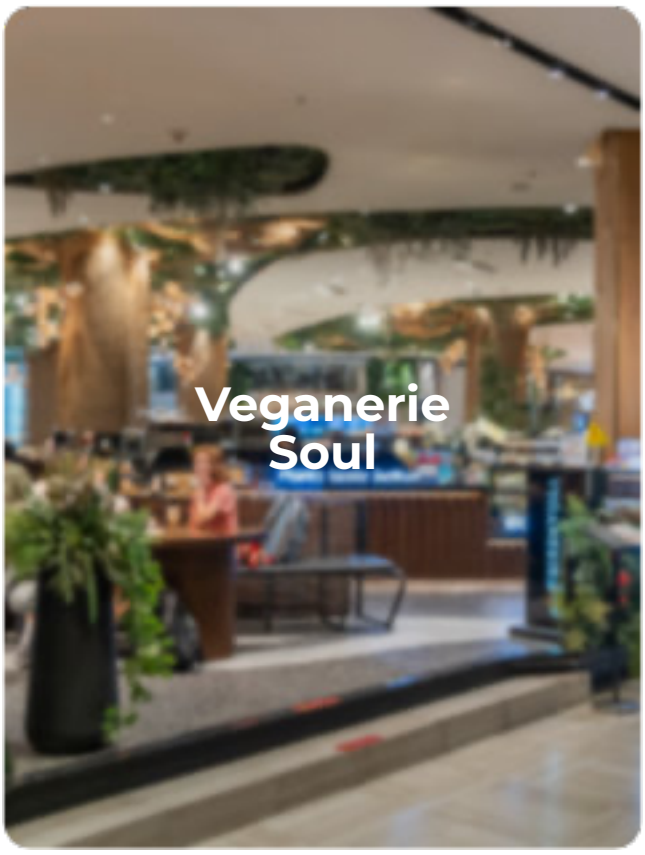
Level 55, EA, Empire Tower, 1 S Sathon Rd, Yan Nawa, Sathon, Bangkok 10120, Thailand

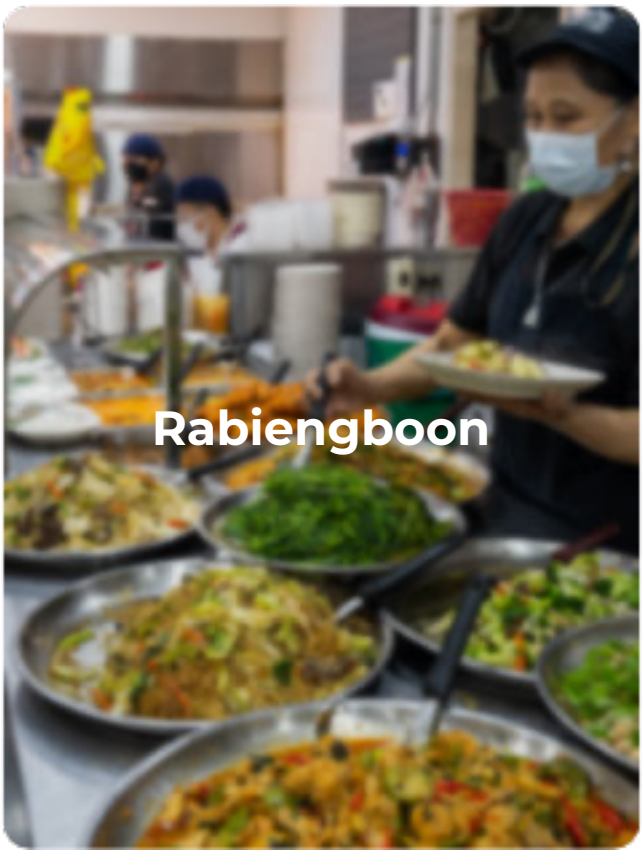
Area Directory - Bangkok

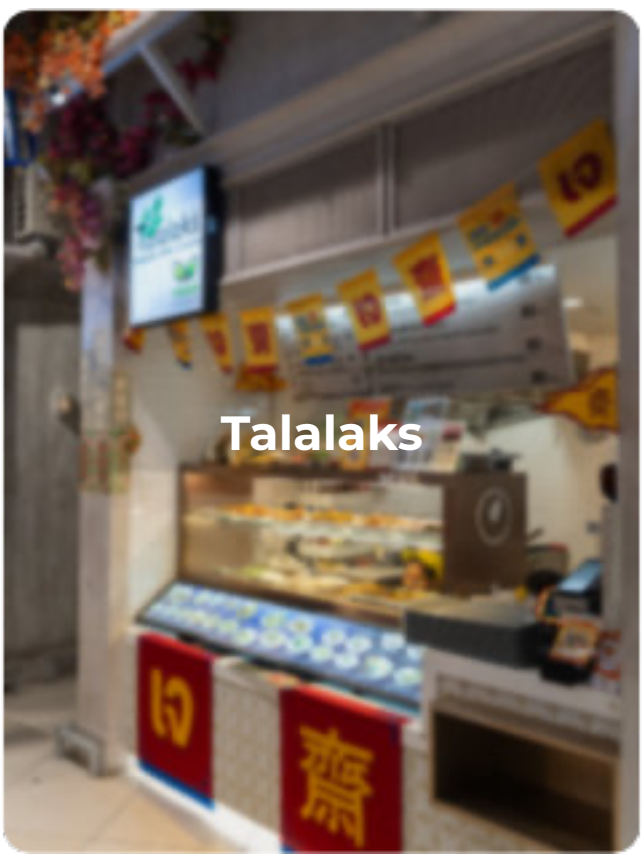
Siam & Pratunam

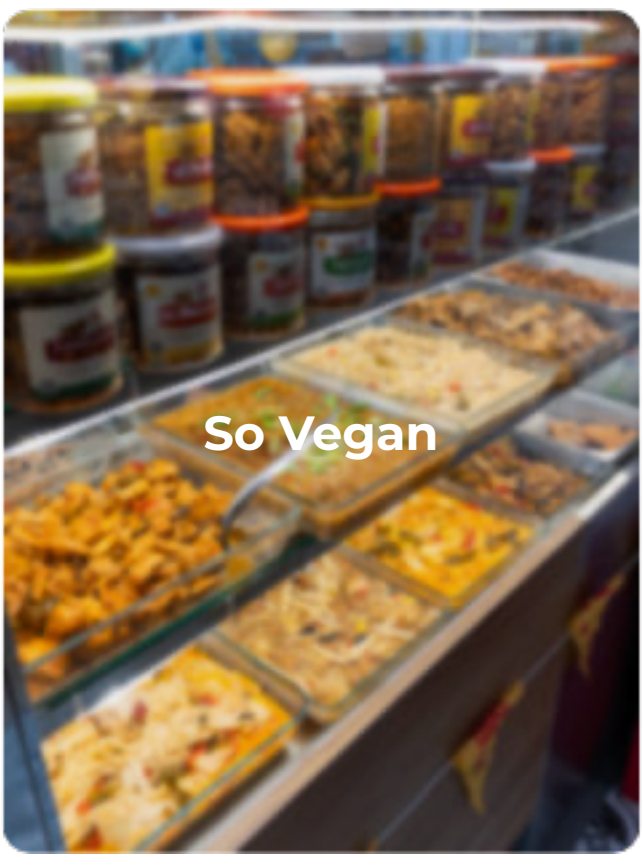
สยาม · ประตูน้ำ

Click to jump to restaurant









VEGANERIE SOUL

วีแกนเนอรี โซล

Vegan

Cafe, International

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you need a moment to relax after a busy day of shopping at Siam Paragon, Veganerie Soul is the perfect spot. Located on the ground floor, its semi-open plan gives you a nice little relaxing spot in this busy luxury shopping centre.

The menu is great and full of comforting choices, similar to their other branches. I saw some interesting dishes like a spinach cheesy bake and green curry with roti. If you were in the mood for something lighter like I was, go for a simple coconut coffee and a refreshing acai sorbet.

► If you leave a review on Google Maps, you can get a free cookie or a scoop of ice cream as a thank you.

INFORMATION

GC10, สยามพารากอน ชั้น G, เลขที่ 991 Rama I Rd, Khwaeng Pathum Wan, Pathum Wan, Bangkok 10330, Thailand

MENU

RABIENGBOON

ระเบียงบุญอาหารเจ

Vegan ฿฿฿ B L D N

Food Court, Traditional

Located at the MBK Center on the 6th floor food court level, Rabiengboon is a classic Thai-style vegetarian food stall - the kind where you point at what you want from a big selection of pre-made dishes served over rice. It's no-frills, authentic, and incredibly good value.

Although the shop is labelled as vegetarian, from what I can tell and my research, the food is all vegan. Expect to find stir-fry, mock meats, and vegetable dishes to choose from. Just be aware that not much English is spoken.

Like many other food court in Thailand, this one operates on a card system, which means you have to load money onto a card at the main counter before ordering, as stalls don't accept cash.

INFORMATION

6th floor, MBK Center, 444 Phaya Thai Rd, Wang Mai, Pathum Wan, Bangkok 10330, Thailand

TALALAKS (SIAM PARAGON)

ตาละลักษมณ์

Vegan

Food Court, Thai

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you find yourself shopping in one of Bangkok's big, luxurious malls like Siam Paragon or Emporium and need a quick, cheap, and tasty meal, Talalaks is a solid choice. It’s a reliable spot for classic Thai vegan food served 'buffet' style, where you can point and choose what you’d like over rice. It’s not a fancy destination by any means, but it’s an easy and convenient option.

Dishes are rarely over 100 baht. You can expect to find a traditional Thai dishes like satay skewers, wonton soup noodles, and even a rice dish with mock meat and vegan egg.

INFORMATION

991 Rama I Rd, Pathum Wan, Bangkok 10330, Thailand

MENU

SO VEGAN (PHENIX)

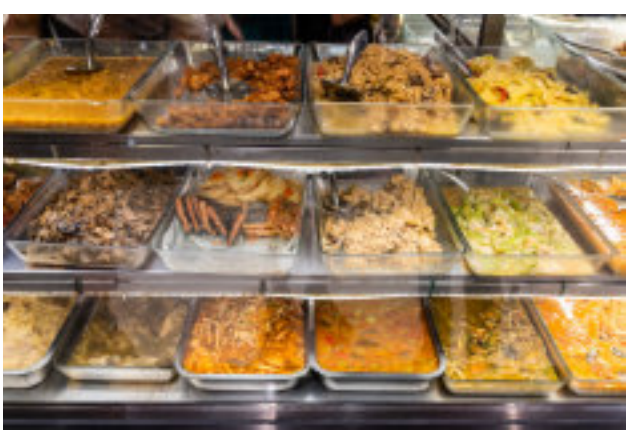
โซวีแกน

Vegan ฿฿฿ B L D N

Food Court, Traditional

So Vegan is a convenient vegan chain that you'll usually find in shopping centre food court around Bangkok. The food tastes good, especially considering the low price.

The setup is simple: a variety of dishes are already prepared and displayed behind a glass counter, and you just point to what you want. You can choose one, two, or three items to be served over rice. They have everything from curries, stir-fries, and a variety of tofu and mock meat dishes. I tried a bowl of their wonton soup which comes with mock meat and veggies, and I was impressed of how flavourful the light broth was.



INFORMATION

ชั้นm ศูนย์การค้าฟินิกซ์ประตูน้ำ Phetchaburi Rd, Khwaeng Thanon Phetchaburi, Khet Ratchathewi, Bangkok 10400, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

PLANTIFUL

Located on the ground floor of the upscale Gaysorn Amarin mall, this is a bright and modern cafe focused on healthy, whole-food meals. The menu is internationally inspired, featuring colourful smoothie bowls, burrito wraps, creative salads, and even vegan sushi.

BROCCOLI REVOLUTION

This popular vegan cafe has a branch conveniently located at the Central Embassy shopping centre, known for its relaxed, stylish atmosphere with high ceilings and lots of greenery. They focus on organic and wholefood ingredients. You can expect a diverse international menu with everything from their vegan burgers and veggie balls to vibrant smoothie bowls and fresh cold-pressed juices from their "elixir bar". See the full review here.

SHINE THONG VEGETARIAN

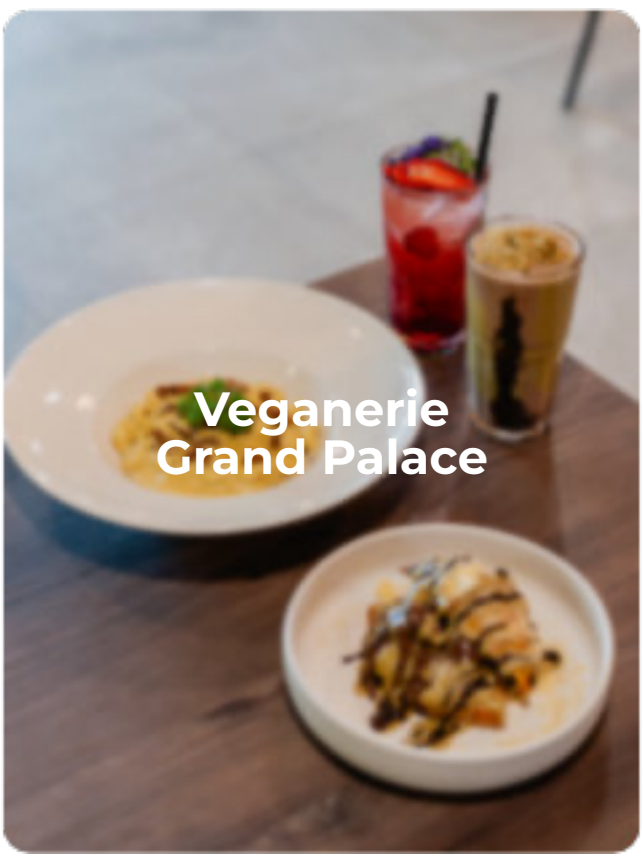
If you're at centralwOrld, Shine Thong Vegetarian Food is a classic Thai vegetarian stall often found in a food court setting. You point and choose from a variety of pre-cooked curries, stir-fried vegetables, and tofu dishes to be served over rice, similar to the style of So Vegan that mentioned earlier in this guide.

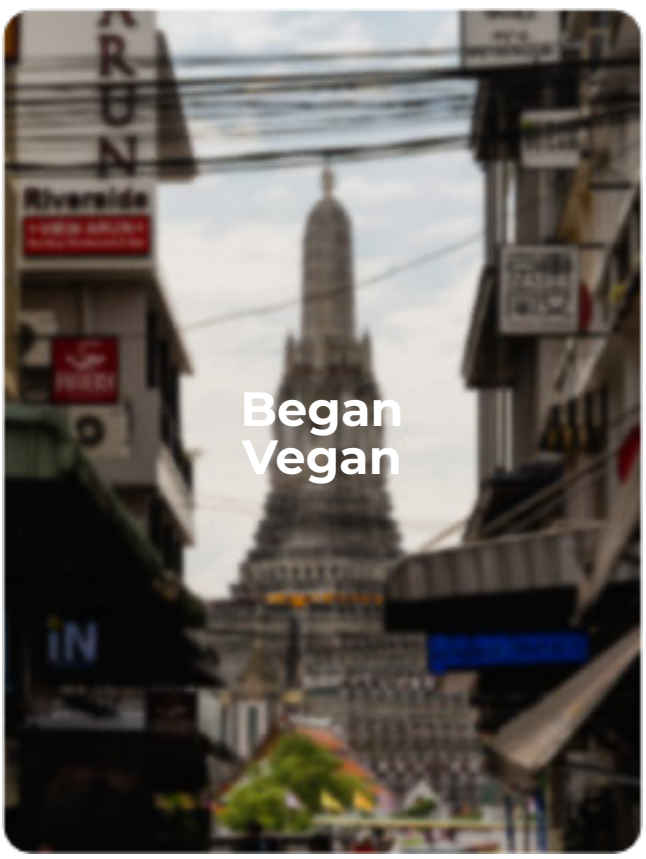
Area Directory - Bangkok

Khaosan Road & Rattanakosin

ถนนข้าวสาร · รัตนโกสินทร์

Click to jump to restaurant





Bangkok

Rattanakosin & Khaosan Raod

VEGAN PRANAKHON

วีแกนพระนคร

Vegan

Restaurant, Creative

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you’re looking for a modern take on traditional Thai food that is both creative and delicious, Vegan Pranakhon is a must-visit.

Located conveniently at the start of the famous 'party road' - Khaosan Road, it’s the sister restaurant to the more traditional Vegan Mahanakhon, but this place is all about putting modern twists on classic dishes. The result is a memorable, high-end experience that pushes the boundaries of what vegan Thai food can be, making it one of the places that any vegans visiting Bangkok have to put on their itinerary.

The menu is where the creativity really shines, and I was blown away by a few of the dishes. My absolute favourite was the vegan pork belly with garlic confit rice, which came with a mind-blowing runny vegan egg yolk. Mix the runny egg yolk with the crispy mock meat and fragrant rice to get an experience I won't soon forget.

Another standout was the tempura fried coconut meat. The tangy, spicy, and salty seasoning was reminiscent of fried chicken, and the chewy coconut flesh was a perfect contrast to the light crispy tempura batter.

Other than these two standout dishes, expect to find other creative dishes like Penang curry noodles with vegan crab croquette, or vegan fish tempura pad Thai.

The excellence continues until desserts and drinks. The coconut milk Thai tea was the best I've had on my entire Thailand trip, wonderfully rich and creamy. For dessert, they have a brulee mango sticky rice which they caramelised the top of fresh mango.

Beyond the amazing food, the atmosphere of the restaurant adds to the special feeling of dining here. The two-level space is decorated in a classy maroon red with beautiful traditional Thai accents. It feels elegant and classy. One the second floor, you can even catch a glimpse of Khaosan Road looking out the windows. The service was also top-notch and incredibly attentive.

Vegan Pranakhon is serving some of the best and most inventive vegan Thai dishes in Bangkok. It’s a must-visit for any foodie who wants to experience how vegan dishes can be transformed in exciting ways.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

After your meal, you're in the perfect spot to dive into the vibrant nightlife of Khaosan Road. If you're looking for something a bit quieter, take a short walk to Phra Athit Road, which runs alongside the Chao Phraya River and has a more relaxed, bohemian vibe with cool bars and live music.

INFORMATION

139 Thanon Tanao, Khwaeng Wat Bowon Niwet, Khet Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

MENU

KEM-KON (PHAHURAT)

เข้ม-ข้น

Vegan

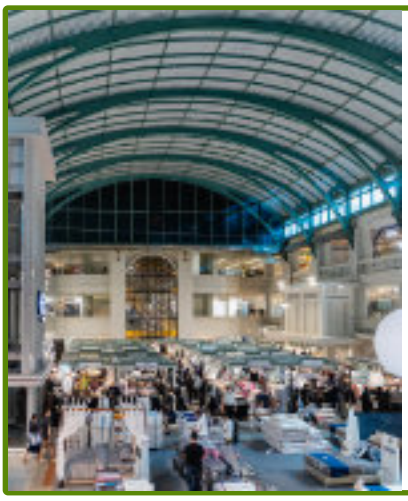
Restaurant, Thai

฿฿฿

B L D N

Kem-Kon impresses with a huge variety of veganised Thai dishes on their menu. It's one of those spots you could return to again and again and always find something new to try. They have a few branches in Bangkok, including one near Khaosan Road and one relatively close to IconSiam. The branch I visited in Phahurat is in Bangkok's 'little India', and you can see the local life a busy intersection below as you eat if you go on the second floor.

The menu covers everything you could hope for, from creamy Khao soi to classic Tom yum and pad Thai. I was excited to finally try a vegan sai ua, the famous northern Thai sausage. Their version, made from banana blossom, was fragrant with lemongrass and lime flavours with a unique texture. My personal favourite, though, was their take on Hainanese chicken rice. The plant-based 'chicken' was tender, and the dipping sauce was packed with garlic, ginger, and soy flavours. It came with a simple, clear soup that was perfect for cleansing the palate between bites.



ALSO IN THE AREA:

This branch is right in the heart of Bangkok's "Little India", a vibrant area filled with fabric shops, temples, and more. Check out local spots like Phahurat Market or The Old Siam Plaza.

INFORMATION

80 82 Tri Phet Rd, Wang Burapha Phirom, Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Rattanakosin & Khaosan Raod

VEGANERIE GRAND PALACE

วีแกนเนอรี วัดพระแก้ว

Vegan

Restaurant, Modern

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you've spent a morning exploring the Grand Palace and the area, this Veganerie is the perfect spot to sit down for a comfortable and delicious meal. It's conveniently located right near the palace and right next to the river. The interior is simple and modern, accented by plants and wooden decor.

The menu is just as extensive and delicious-looking than other branches, with familiar Western comfort food alongside some Thai options and indulgent desserts.

The mac and cheese I tried has a smooth, creamy cashew sauce with smoky soy bacon and cashew parmesan on top. What really blew me away, though, were the trendy Dubai chocolate desserts. The croissant ice cream sandwich was one of the most indulgent things I've had in a while, packed with dark chocolate ice cream, crispy kunafa, and pistachios. It was on the special menu, though, so you may find something different during your visit.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

This location is just a short walk from the Grand Palace and The Temple of the Emerald Buddha, which are absolute must-sees. Or you can wander over to the nearby Tha Phra Chan Amulet Market to browse the unique stalls.

INFORMATION

ห้อง A1 เลขที่ 166 04 Maha Rat Rd, Phra Borom Maha Ratchawang, Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Rattanakosin & Khaosan Raod

BEGAN VEGAN

บีแกน วีแกน

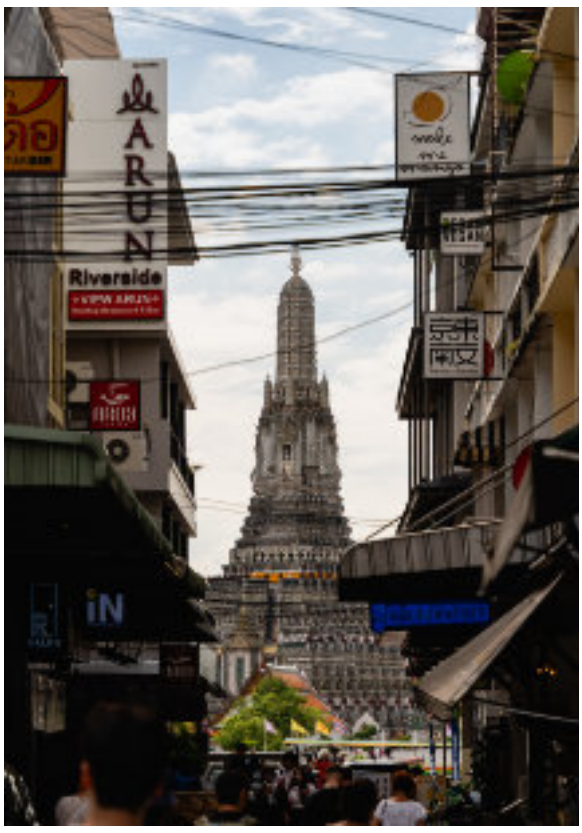
Vegan

Cafe, Casual

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you need a place to rest and grab a simple, satisfying meal after visiting the Reclining Buddha at Wat Pho, this is the perfect spot. Began Vegan is a fully vegan cafe tucked away in an alley that offers a lovely view of Wat Arun across the river as you approach. The menu is straightforward, featuring mostly Western comfort food like smoothie bowls, burgers, pasta, as well as some Thai and Japanese dishes. I found it to be an ideal little escape from the heat and the crowds amongst this tourist area,



INFORMATION

71-73 Soi Tha Suphan, Phra Borom Maha Ratchawang, Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

Vegetarian ฿฿฿ B L D N

ETHOS VEGETARIAN

วีแกนมหานคร - ศิริราช

Just located at one of the quiet back streets near Khaosan Road, Ethos is a vegetarian spot with a big menu of Thai and Western dishes, with plenty of clearly marked vegan options. The vibe is very chilled-out, with options for regular tables or sitting on floor cushions, making it a popular place to unwind.

85/2 Thanon Tanao, Wat Bowon Niwet, Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

Vegetarian ฿฿฿ B L D N

MANGO VEGETARIAN

วีแกนมหานคร - ศิริราช

This vegetarian restaurant is another favourite in the Khaosan area. The menu is mostly vegan with some vegetarian options, offering everything from curries and soups to Western-style salad bowls, burgers and even choc lava cake.

เลขที่ 13 Thanon Tanao, Wat Bowon Niwet, Phra Nakhon, Bangkok 10200, Thailand

MELLO VEGAN

Mello Vegan is another solid choice for vegans. Located close to Wat Saket Ratchawora Mahawihan temple, their menu is a mix of local Thai dishes like pad kaprao with vegan egg, and international favourites like burgers and pasta, so there’s something for everyone

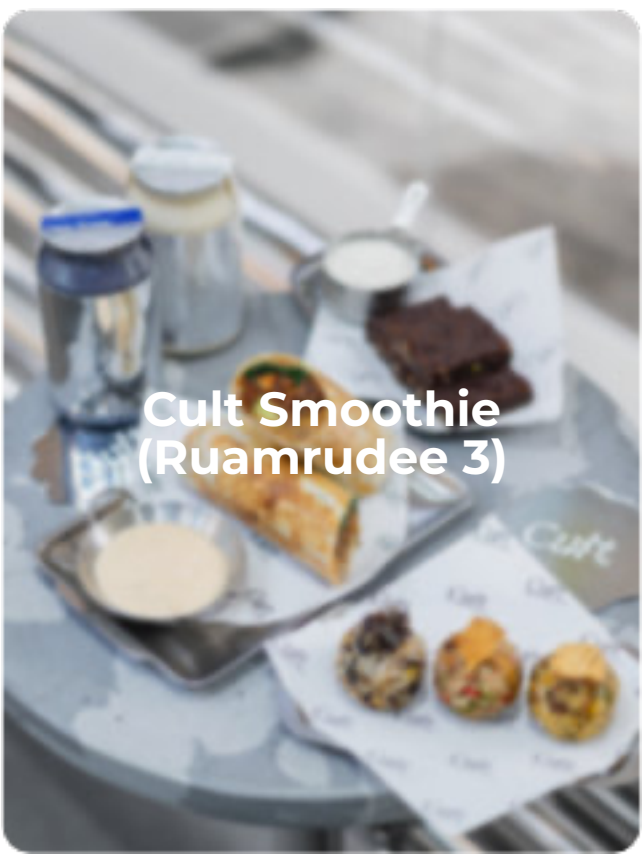
THAM NA

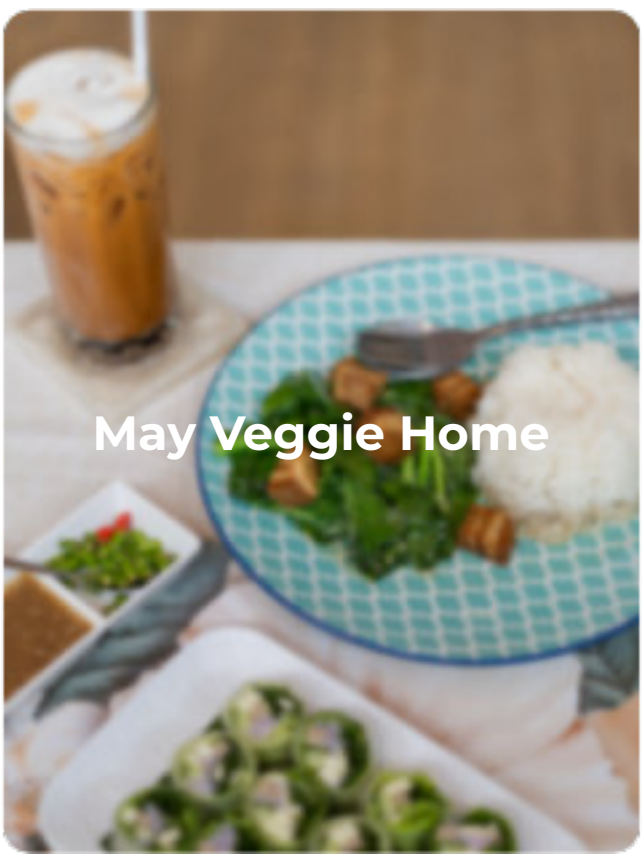
This small, quaint Thai vegetarian restaurant is loved for its cozy feel and lovely staff. The menu focuses on Thai dishes with some Western options available. The menu doesn't mark clearly whether a dish is vegan or vegetarian, so you'd need to specify and ask when ordering.

Area Directory - Bangkok

Other Areas
ย่านฮิน ๆ

Click to jump to restaurant





Bangkok — Other Areas

VEGAN MAHANAKHON

วีแกนมหานคร - ศิริราช

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Thai, Elevated

If you're looking for an elevated and truly special meal in Bangkok, put Vegan Mahanakhon on your list. Tucked away in a quiet area, you'll find it inside a beautifully restored 120-year-old teakwood house decorated with fresh, colourful flowers. From the moment you take off your shoes and the friendly staff welcomes you with a fragrant jasmine drink, it feels less like a restaurant and more like being a guest in a beautiful, traditional Thai home.

► As the location is not near any BTS station, I'd recommend getting here by booking a Grab or Bolt ride.

The menu focuses on perfecting traditional Thai cuisine, and the food here is simply stunning. I can't recommend the assorted Thai appetiser platter enough as a starting point. It's the perfect way to sample a bit of everything. My personal favourites were the beautiful blue flower dumplings, the little bowls of crispy rice vermicelli with a sweet and tangy sauce, and the "chicken" pieces wrapped in pandan leaves, which were unbelievably flavourful.

Another dish that I absolutely loved was the stir-fried chicken with cashew nuts, which is a simple dish executed perfectly. All I needed was that and a bowl of rice to be completely happy.

The attention to detail extends to every part of the meal, including dessert. I was so impressed with their take on mango sticky rice. It's served with two thin slices of fresh coconut meat on top, which adds extra textural contrast to the perfectly sweet, high-quality mango and creamy sticky rice.

Overall, Vegan Mahanakhon is one of the most refined and delicious vegan meals I've had in Thailand. It's a must-visit for any vegans visiting Thailand.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Vegan Mahanakhon is just a 5-minute car ride from one of Bangkok's most iconic riverside sights - Wat Arun, which is also known as the Temple of Dawn. It's also in walking distance to the nearby Wang Lang Market.

INFORMATION

661 Arun Amarin Rd, ศิริราช Bangkok Noi, Bangkok 10700, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Other Areas

VEGETARIAN SOCIETY

ชมรมมังสวิรัติแห่งประเทศไทย สาขาจตุจักร

Vegan

Food Court, Local

฿฿฿

B L D N

Vegetarian Society near Chatuchak Market is a truly local experience. The food is tasty and cheap, but there are a few things you'll need to know beforehand for a smooth visit.

It's a canteen style venue with vegan food vendors. The food isn't fancy, but it's flavourful and comforting. You can expect to find classic stir-fries, noodle soups, curries served over brown rice, and a lot of tasty mock meat dishes here.

Food stalls don't accept cash. Instead, head to the voucher counter on the right when you walk in to exchange your cash for food tickets. The food here is cheap, so you probably need fewer vouchers than you need. For your reference, the 3 plates of food I got cost only 100 baht.

When ordering, there isn't much English of the menu, and staff may speak limited English. So be sure to learn a few simple phrases and point towards the dishes that catch your eyes.

Once you've got your food, you grab your own cutlery from a station located at the centre of the canteen, and when you're done, you're expected to return your plates and utensils to the cleaning area.

The dishes I tried were all solid and tasty. My personal favourite was the skewers with grilled mushrooms and mock meat, especially with the spicy, tangy green dip it came with. The crispy fried taro cake was also delicious with a mix of crispy and chewy textures.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

This spot is just a short walk from the famous Chatuchak Weekend Market, one of the largest markets in the world. You'll find a maze of stalls selling everything from vintage clothing to local crafts and home goods.

INFORMATION

580-592 ชมรมมังสวิรัติแห่งประเทศไทย สาขาจตุจักร ลาดยาว Chatuchak, Bangkok 10900, Thailand

Bangkok — Other Areas

CULT SMOOTHIE

เค้าท์ สมูทตี

*Vegan

Quick Bites, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

Tucked away on a quiet local street in the Lumphini area, this futuristic, all-silver smoothie bar feels like a quiet hidden gem. Although it's just about 15-minute walk from Lumphini Park or Phloen Chit BTS station, it feels like a completely different world than the ultra-busy Bangkok city.

► The menu at this location is a lot bigger than the one at Dusit Central Park.

Their menu is all vegan except one of the smoothies which has bee pollen. Despite the relatively small shop, the food menu is high quality and full of surprisingly hearty options. I tried the ‘Taste of Seoul’ wrap, which was packed with kimchi, gochujang, avocado, lentils, and tempeh, and served with a fantastic vegan cream cheese dip. I also loved the rice balls. They have 3 flavours, but my personal favourite was the lentil seaweed flavour and Tom Yum lion's mane mushroom flavour, both of which are fragrant and tasty.

The smoothies are their main focus, of course. They’re blended fresh from whole foods right in front of you and served in cute, sealed cans. I had the ‘Deep Ocean’ (with blueberry and spirulina) and the ‘Off White Cloud’ (with lychee and yuzu), and you could really taste the quality of the fresh ingredients.

INFORMATION

125 26 Ruam Rudi 3 Alley, Lumphini, Pathum Wan, Bangkok 10330, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Other Areas

MAY VEGGIE HOME

เมย์ เวจจี โฮม

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Home-Style

May Veggie Home is a solid choice for a wholesome vegan meal, though its location is a bit out of the way. (For a more convenient option, consider their 'Express' branch).

About 15-minute walk from Punnawithi BTS station, the restaurant is a nice, relaxing escape with its big windows, plentiful plants, and floral tablecloths. It has a genuine home-cooking vibe - nothing overly fancy, but satisfying food that feels nourishing.

The menu offers a range of Thai and even some Vietnamese-inspired dishes. I tried the vegetables soy meat wrap, which was fresh and flavourful with a really delicious umami dipping sauce. I also had the stir fried Chinese kale with plant-based crunchy meat, which is a classic stir-fry that was garlicky and tasty, though not quite a standout. To go with it, the Thai oat milk tea was a perfect choice.

INFORMATION

738 Sukhumvit 101 Alley, Khwaeng Bang Chak, Khet Phra Khanong, Krung Thep Maha Nakhon 10260, Thailand

MENU

Bangkok — Other Areas

YOLE ICE CREAM

โยเล่

Vegan-option ฿฿฿

B L D N

Quick-bite, Dessert

You probably will see this ice cream chain when you're mall-hopping in Bangkok. Famous for their "zero sugar added" soft serve ice cream, you'll usually find them in major shopping centres like centralwOrld or Siam Paragon.

When I visited, they have a vegan chocolate ice cream made with oat milk, as well as toppings like vegan pistachio spread, and biscoff biscuits. The vegan-friendly toppings were clearly marked. It's a nice treat, though the price is on the higher side.

▶ Their original flavour is NOT vegan. Only buy if they have the vegan flavour available.

INFORMATION

Multiple locations across Bangkok

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN BANGKOK

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

LOVING HUT

Loving Hut is a well-known international chain of vegan restaurants, and it has three locations in and around Bangkok. You can expect to find an extensive selection of Thai, pan-Asian, and sometimes Western dishes, with many creative uses of soy protein and other plant-based alternatives. Each branch has a slightly different menu and atmosphere, but they are all known for being reliable spots for flavourful and satisfying vegan food.

SUTUNTHIP VEGAN

Located across the river on Charoen Nakhon Road, Sutunthip Vegan is a long-standing favourite for those seeking traditional Thai and Chinese vegan cuisine. The restaurant is known for its big menu that features a mix of vegetable-focused dishes and classic meals made with mock meats.

TAMMANG ISSAN VEGAN

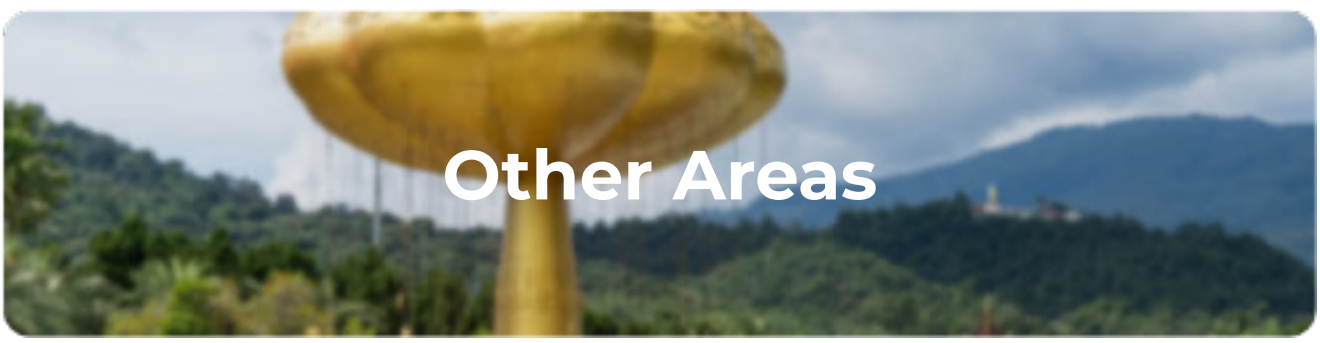
This spot specialises in the bold flavours of North-Eastern Thai (Isaan) cuisine, all completely plant-based. This restaurant stands out with its vegan versions of iconic Isaan dishes that are hard to find elsewhere, such as various types of som tam (papaya salad), larb (spicy "meat" salad), and grilled mock meats.

The Vegan Foodie Guide to Thailand

Chiang Mai
เชียงใหม่

Nestled in the mountains of Northern Thailand, Chiang Mai is the creative heart of the country's vegan scene. Its relaxing atmosphere is home to a thriving plant-based community, with incredible food found everywhere from the charming laneways of Old Town, to the trendy Nimman neighbourhood. You can indulge in comforting pizzas at places like Rad Rabbit, make a special trip for a top-tier cafe at Vegano Bistro, or stay at an all-vegan hotel at Away Chiang Mai.

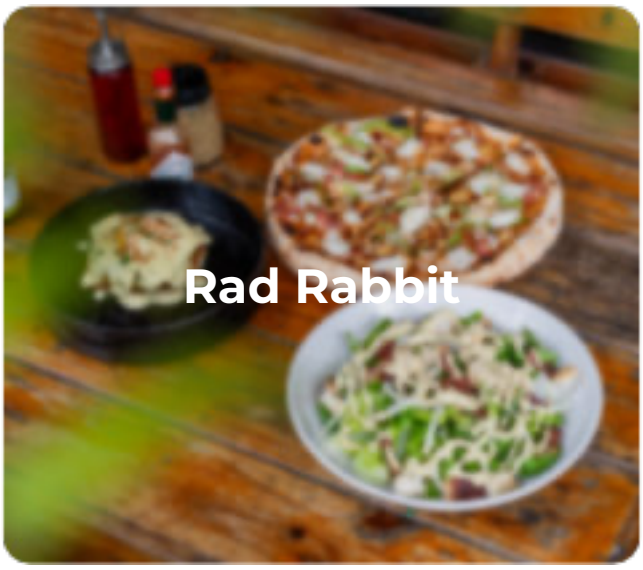
Click to jump to area

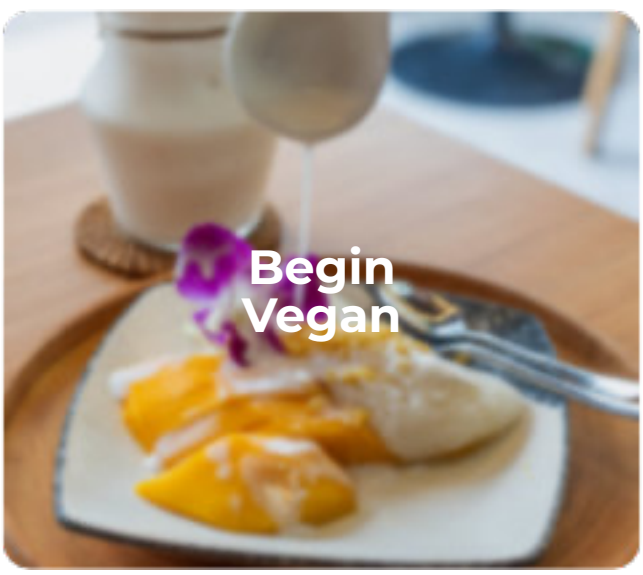


Area Directory - Chiang Mai

Old Town
เมืองเก่า

Click to jump to restaurant





Chiang Mai — Old Town

RAD RABBIT VEGAN PIZZERIA

แรด แรบบิท

Vegan

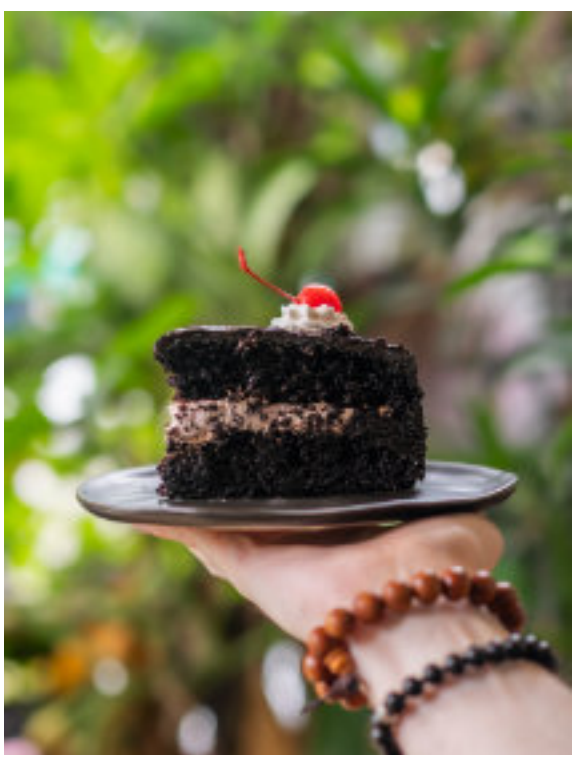
฿฿฿

BLDN

Restaurant, Italian, Creative

If you’re craving some delicious comfort food in Old Town, you have to go to Rad Rabbit. It's Chiang Mai's first fully vegan pizzeria, and the menu is packed with so many irresistible options that it’s hard to choose. I came for the pizza, but I was so excited to see they also serve hard-to-find dishes like vegan eggs Benedict and breakfast sandwiches with vegan bacon and egg.

The pizza here really hits the spot. I tried the Texas BBQ pizza, which was like a vegan meat lover's dream, loaded with smoky BBQ sauce, vegan bacon, chicken, and great melty vegan cheese. The base was chewy and well-made. The eggs Benedict is another highlight. It comes with a vegan egg, bacon, avocado, and tomato on a toasted muffin, all covered in a hollandaise sauce that was perfectly creamy and rich. They also do a classic Caesar salad with croutons and bacon.



Don't skip desserts here. They have a selection of house-made cakes, and I was blown away by how good the Black Forest cake is. Incredibly rich and decadent.

The restaurant itself is simple but has a really charming and friendly vibe. The walls are lined with cute artwork from local artists, including lots of pictures of - you guessed it - rad rabbits eating pizza. It's just a lovely, relaxed place to sit down and enjoy a meal that feels both comforting and special.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Rad Rabbit is just a short walk from Wat Chiang Man, one of the oldest temples in the city, founded by King Mengrai in 1296. It’s a beautiful and historically significant place to visit, famous for its unique elephant-ringed chedi and for housing two very important Buddha statues.

INFORMATION

27, 2 Moon Muang Rd Soi 9, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — Old Town

PURE VEGAN HEAVEN

เพียว วีแกน เฮเว่น

Vegan

Cafe, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you're looking for a cozy and healthy meal in Chiang Mai's Old Town, consider Pure Vegan Heaven. This vegan cafe chain has branches all other Thailand, including Phuket, Koh Samui and Koh Phangan, and the Chiang Mai branch has a relaxed, friendly vibe. The menu is fully vegan and focuses on nourishing, flavourful food that is beautifully presented with colourful ingredients and edible flowers.

Healthy vegan food could taste a bit bland sometimes, so I was impressed with how flavourful the dishes here were. You can find everything from poke bowls and burgers to Thai classics like papaya salad. I tried the gluten-free veggie wrap, which cleverly uses seaweed instead of a tortilla. It came with a delicious cashew cheese dip that was perfect with the fresh mint and veggies inside. I also tried the mushroom quesadilla, and it was surprisingly rich and flavourful, filled with vegan cheddar and a perfectly spiced mushroom mix.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

The cafe is just a short walk from Tha Phae Gate, one of the famous ancient gates to the Old Town. If you're in the area on a Sunday, you absolutely have to check out the Tha Phae Walking Street market. It stretches nearly the whole length of the main road inside Old Town, with endless stalls of crafts, snacks and clothes.

INFORMATION

103 Rachadamnoen Soi 8, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — Old Town

BEGIN VEGAN

บีกินวีแกน

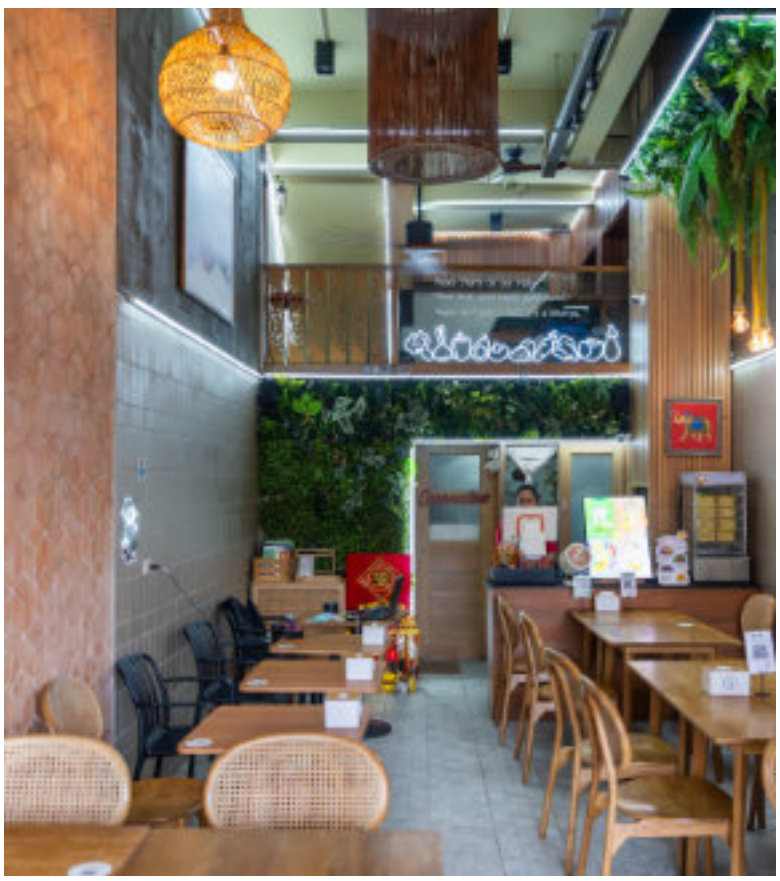
Vegetarian

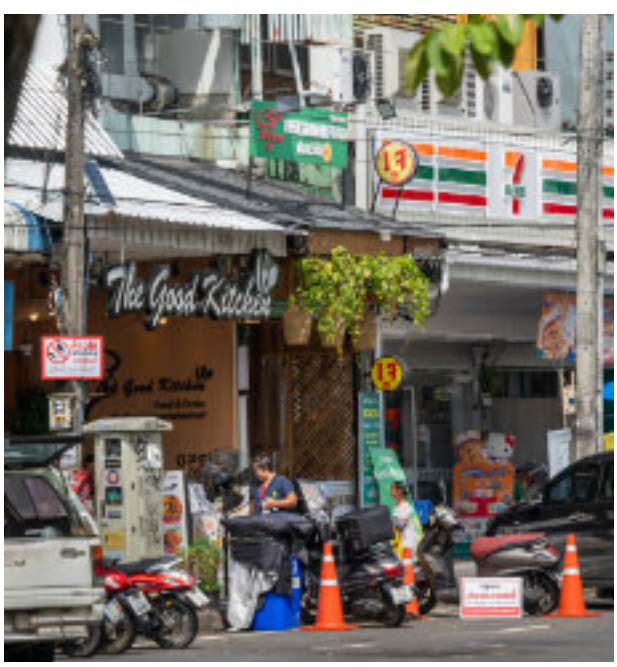
฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Traditional

This local veg spot has a friendly, semi-open-air feel that makes for a really authentic Thai dining experience. Despite the restaurant name, some dishes contains egg, so make sure to check with the staff or only order the dishes that are marked vegan. On the menu, you'll find many veganised versions of traditional Thai favourites, like rad na crispy noodles and various stir-fries. I couldn't resist trying the classic mango sticky rice dessert here. It was well-made with sweet mango and creamy sticky rice. The coconut smoothie was also great.





► Careful because some dishes contain eggs despite the restaurant name.

INFORMATION

183 1 Mun Mueang Rd, Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — Old Town

GOODSOULS KITCHEN

กู๊ดโซลส์ คิทเช่น

Vegan

Restaurant, Fusion

฿฿฿

B L D N

Goodsouls Kitchen is a popular vegan spot in Old Town if you're looking for a spot with a huge menu that does both Thai and Western food well. The vibe inside reminds me of a cool, retro diner, with moody maroon accents and interesting light fixtures.

Their menu is massive, so you'll find something you're in the mood for, whether it's pizza, a burger, or a traditional Thai dish. I tried a couple of their signature dishes and was impressed with the flavours and portions. My personal favourite was the mushroom steak, which interestingly was served with a flavourful khao soi curry sauce that wasn't too spicy. The "steak" itself, made of pressed mushrooms, was yummy with 'meaty' texture. With the fresh salad and fries it came with, it’s a huge meal by iteself. I also got the som tam papaya salad without chilli, and it was perfectly tangy and refreshing.

To finish the meal, go for one of their cake slices in the cabinet like chocolate crepe cake or New York cheesecake. I got myself a mango lassi, which is made with creamy coconut yogurt and almond milk.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Goodsouls Kitchen is located at the North side of Old City, and is pretty close to two important temples in the area - Wat Dab Pai which is just across the street, and 5 minute away from Wat Lok Moli (pictured on the left).

INFORMATION

52 Sinharat Rd Lane 3, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

REFORM KAFÉ

รีฟอร์ม คาเฟ่

Vegan

Cafe, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

Reform Kafé is located inside Green Tiger House, a fully vegan hotel. Anyone can visit this cafe, whether you're staying at the hotel or not. The cafe is set in a beautiful, leafy garden that is calm and relaxing. The menu is the basically the same as the Goodsouls Kitchen, which is under the same management, offering a mix of Thai and Western dishes.

INFORMATION

1 4 Sri Poom Rd, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

COCO MANGO

โคโค แมงโก้

Vegan-option

฿฿฿

B L D N

Quick Bites, Desserts

I stumbled across this fantastic little dessert shop on the south side of the Old Town after wandering through the bustling Wua Lai Saturday Walking Street, and it turned out to be a hidden gem for vegans.

Their sign advertising vegan options caught my eyes. This small dessert spot has vegan-friendly desserts with coconut ice cream. I tried their mango ice cream sundae, and it was an amazing desserts filled with coconut and mango ice cream, chunks of sweet fresh mango, and even chewy sticky rice. It's basically a mango sticky rice reinvented as a ice cream sundae. Other than this, they also have vegan coconut cookie ice cream sandwich.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Just a few minute walk away from Wua Lai Walking Street Saturday Market and Chiang Mai Gate Market.

INFORMATION

21 Prapokklao Road, Prasing, Muang, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

Chiang Mai — Old Town

THE BUTTERFLY EFFECT

เดอะ บัตเตอร์ฟลาย เอฟเฟค

Vegetarian

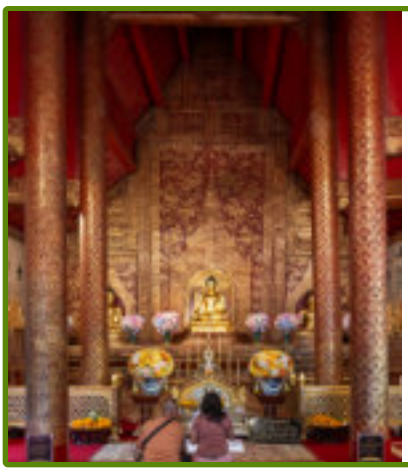
Cafe, Modern

฿฿฿

B L D N

The Butterfly Effect Cafe is a a modern and relaxing cafe in Old Town. With big windows that let in tons of natural light, they have a menu that matches the vibes. The menu is mostly vegan, offering things like smoothie bowls, sourdough toasts, and a selection of raw vegan cakes. They also specialise in CBD-infused drinks and even sell CBD oil.

The iced matcha was quite decent and rich. The raw matcha lime cheesecake had a soft, creamy texture, but it wasn't a standout for me. Unfortunately, the iced mocha made with their house-made hemp milk was a bit of a letdown with weak chocolate flavours and milk that lacked creaminess.



ALSO IN THE AREA:

Just a short walk away is Wat Phra Singh Woramahawihan, one of Chiang Mai's most important and visually stunning temples. It's a great idea to experience its incredible grounds either after visiting this cafe.

INFORMATION

5 22 Rachadamnoen Rd Soi 7, Si Phum, อ. เมือง, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

Vegetarian ฿฿฿

B L D N

HUMMUS

ฮัมมูส

Hummus Chiang Mai brings authentic Middle Eastern flavours to Old City, specialising in fresh, homemade hummus with a variety of toppings. Menu marks vegan-friendly dishes, including falafel, salads, and pita sandwiches, all made from scratch using locally sourced vegetables.

109, 1 Mun Mueang Rd, Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

Vegetarian ฿฿฿

B L D N

CHADA VEGETARIAN

ชฎา มังสวิรัติ

Chada Vegetarian is a family-run restaurant that serves a menu of flavourful and authentic Thai dishes like curry and stir-fry dishes. Menu doesn't mark which dish is vegan, but most of them can be made vegan upon request, and the staff is knowledgeable.

136/5 Ratchapakhinai Rd, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

Vegan ฿฿฿ B L D N

MR GREEN

มิสเตอร์กรีน

Mr. Green is a fully vegan, open-air Thai restaurant located in the Old City that focuses on using organic, locally grown vegetables with minimal oil. The menu features a range of classic Thai dishes prepared vegan, such as khao soi, pad see ew, tom yum soup, and various curries.

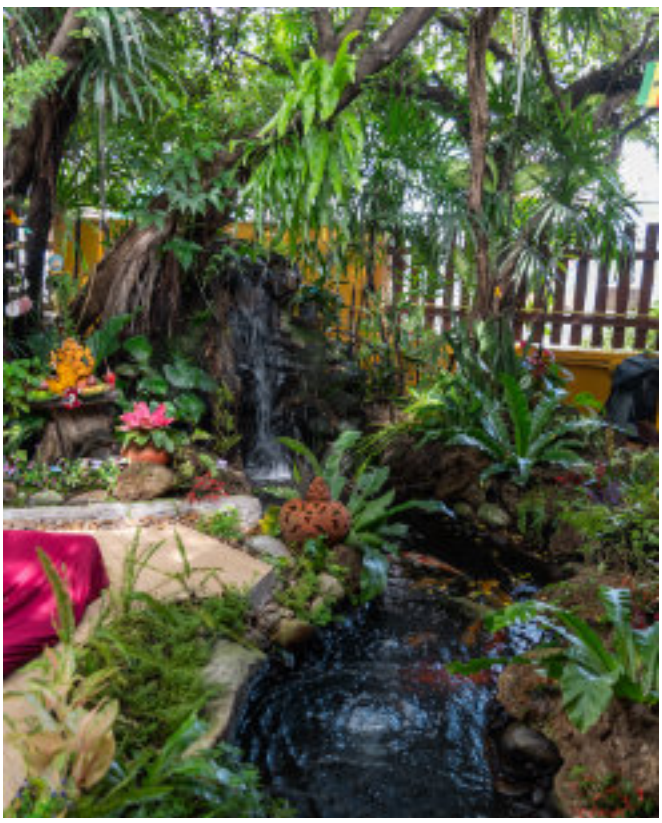
189, 3 Moon Muang Rd Lane 7, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

Vegan-option ฿฿฿ B L D N

BLUE DIAMOND

บลูไดมอนด์

Serves meat, but almost all the dishes can be made vegan upon request as they have plant-based meat. The restaurant has a beautiful garden space with a small waterfall and running river.



35/1 Moon Muang Rd Soi 9, Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

VEGAN MEALS CHIANG MAI

This fully vegan local spot is known for its big menu that covers both Thai and Western dishes. You can find everything from Burmese tea leaf salad and Japanese garlic fried rice to smoothie bowls, avocado toast, and quesadillas. It has a quiet, open-air setting.

MING KWAN VEGETARIAN

A classic and long-standing vegetarian restaurant in the heart of the Old City. It's located near the famous Wat Chedi Luang. The menu features affordable and authentic Thai vegetarian food It's very traditional with a selection of pre-cooked dishes where you can choose a few items to have over rice, but they also offer made-to-order noodle soups including vegan Khao Soi.

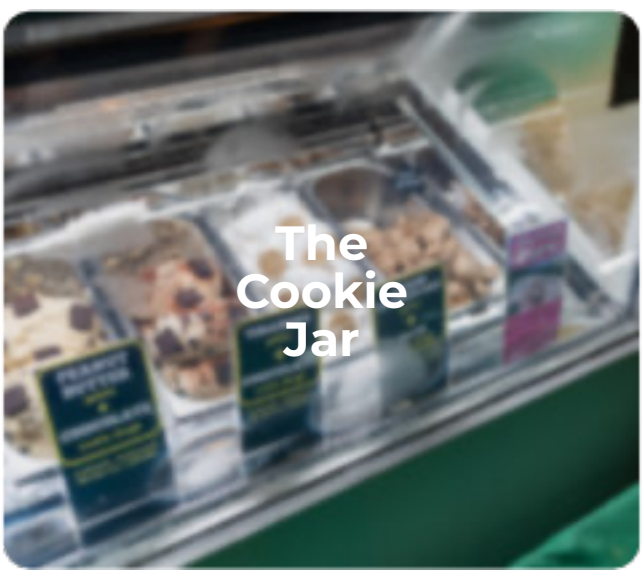
VEGAN SOCIETY RESTAURANT & HOMESTAY

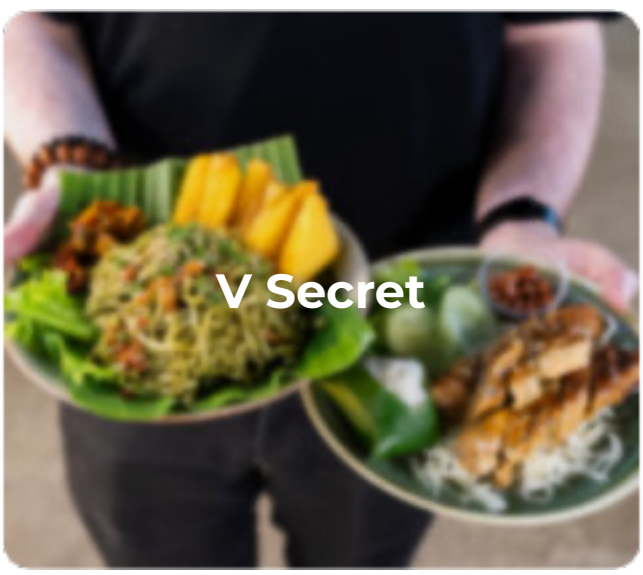
This fully vegan cafe and restaurant offers home-cooked style meals prepared with fresh ingredients. You don't have to stay here to visit the restaurant. The menu features a mix of Thai and international comfort foods, including massaman curry, pad kaprao and khao soi.

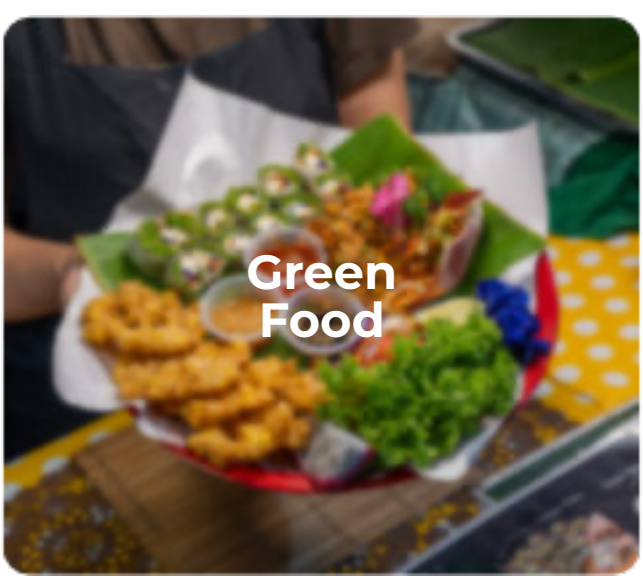
Area Directory - Chiang Mai

East of Old Town
ตะวันออกของเมืองเก่า

Click to jump to restaurant







MOREGANIC RESTAURANT

มอร์แกนิค

Vegan

Restaurant, International

฿฿฿

B L D N

Located as the onsite restaurant at the vegan hotel - Away Chiang Mai Thapae Resort, Moreganic Restaurant is a high quality gem just located at the East of Old Town. This restaurant is a must-visit, especially if you are staying at this amazing vegan hotel.

For me, one of the highlights was the hotel's buffet-style breakfast. After so many years of missing out on a proper hotel breakfast, having a fully vegan buffet at the hotel felt like a dream. The breakfast buffet itself features a well-chosen, concise selection of dishes. There are about six or seven hot dishes, including fried rice, noodles and stir-fries, alongside all the Western classics like croissants, waffles, a salad bar, and even a granola station. They also have a machine for fresh-pressed juice, and some simple desserts like cakes and overnight oats.

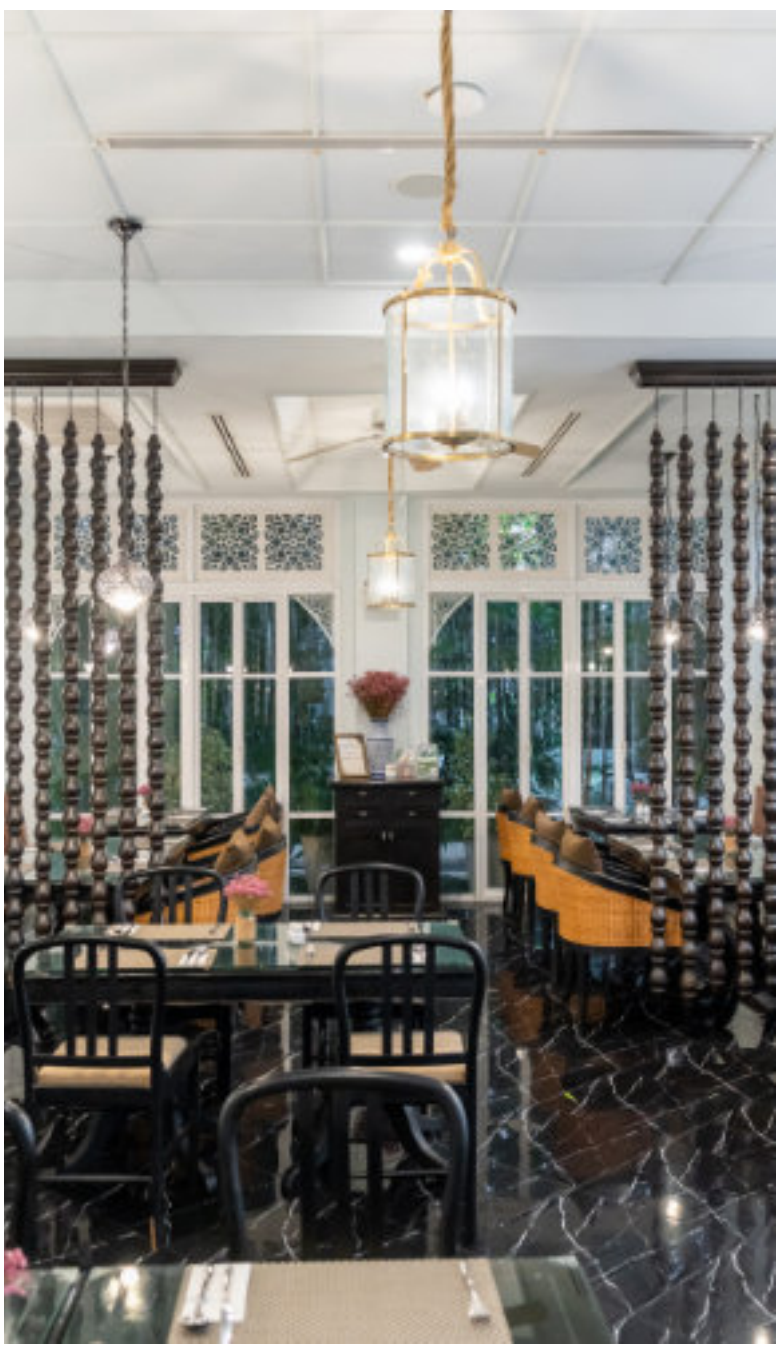
Beyond breakfast, the restaurant is open all day until 9:30pm. The regular menu is huge, offering everything from veganized Thai classics like Khao Soi to Western favourites like loaded bagels and burgers.

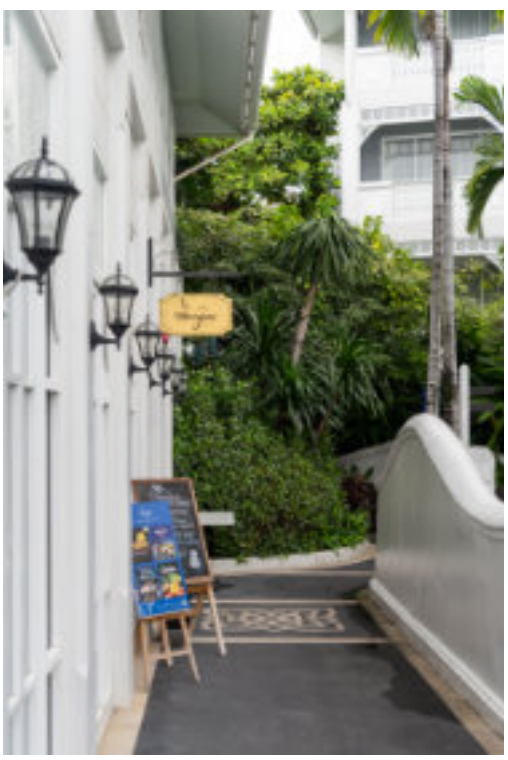
I was lucky enough to try their afternoon tea set, which was another experience that is hard to get for vegans. It arrived on a stunning three-tiered stand, beautifully presented with a mix of sweet and savoury treats. The bottom layer had savoury bites like a tangy BBQ mushroom burrito, a classic ham and mayo style sandwich, and fresh bruschetta. The middle was all about dessert, with a delicate pandan sponge cake, a crispy spring roll lemon curd basket, panna cotta and more. Finished with the top layer of a fruit basket and scones with cream and jam.

► The afternoon tea set needs at least one-day prior booking.

They may have other vegan specials during your visit. When I was there, apart from the aftrnoon tea, they had a shabu shabu set which is a Japanese style hot pot experience.

The atmosphere in the restaurant is quiet, calm, and perfect for a relaxing meal. Whether you're staying at the hotel or just dropping in, Moreganic offers a unique and elevated experience. Located just a 5-minute walk from The Tea Phae Gate, it’s a perfect spot to recharge after a day of exploring Old Town.





INFORMATION

Away Chiang Mai Thapae Resort, Tha Phae Road, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — East of Old Town

VEGAN HEAVEN

วีแกน เฮเว่น

Vegan

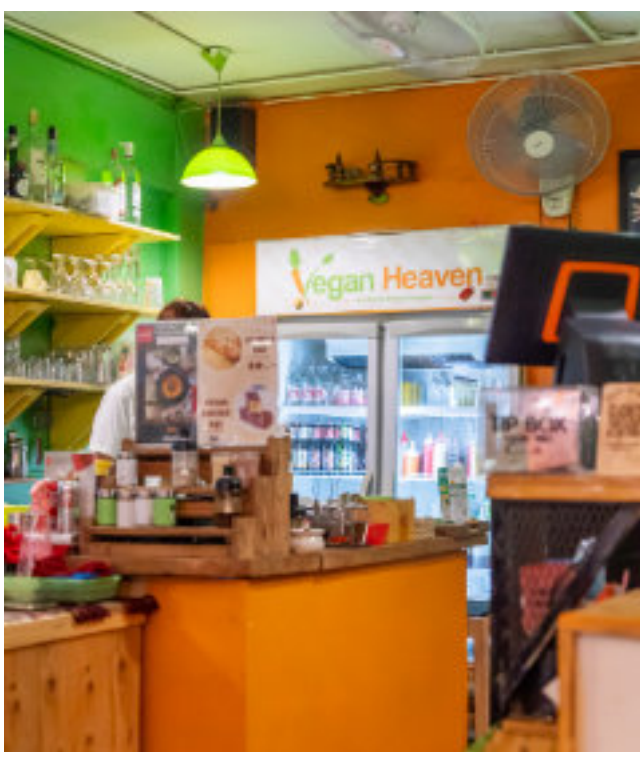
Restaurant, International

฿฿฿

B L D N

Vegan Heaven is a local spot that welcomes you with its colourful orange and green decor. They offer a huge menu, including Western breakfast options like all-day breakfast an BLT sandwich, but I was there for a more traditional Thai dinner and was not disappointed.

You'll find classic Thai dishes here. I opted for the fresh tempeh spring rolls, which were packed with savoury fried tempeh and veggies, as well as a tangy sesame dip. For my main, the penang curry is a good choice with its strong lemongrass flavour and a nice tanginess from kaffir lime. The clear soup was surprisingly flavourful, light, and sweet. For dessert, the deep-fried banana was crispy like a spring roll on the outside and filled with warm, soft banana, served with maple syrup.



INFORMATION

44, 6 Loi Kroh Rd, Tambon Chang Khlan, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — East of Old Town

THE COOKIE JAR

คุกกี จาร์

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Takeaway, Desserts

If you're after a delicious scoop of gelato near Old Town, check out Cookie Jar. This is a tiny, hole-in-the-wall spot right next to a busy road, but it's a real hidden gem for anyone with a sweet tooth. They offer a rotating selection of about six gelato flavours, and the best part is that most of them have generous chunks of cookie dough mixed right in. The owner was friendly and was more than happy to let you try a few samples.

▶ Closed Monday & Tuesday!

I ended up choosing the tiramisu gelato (with chocolate cookie dough) and a rich chocolate gelato (with caramel cookie dough). Both tasted great and full of flavour. They also sell cookies by themselves, and the cinnamon sugar cookie I tried was amazing.

INFORMATION

ต 56 Chaiyapoom Rd, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50300, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — East of Old Town

V SECRET VEGAN

วี ซีเคร็ท

Vegan

Market Stall, Thai

฿฿฿

B L D N

The Ploen Ruedee Night Market is one of the popular night market on the East side of Chiang Mai. Luckily, there is an all-vegan food stall here selling delicious and affordable Thai dishes.

This little vegan food stall sells all dishes for a flat price of 80 baht per dish. Options include drunken noodles, tea leaves salad, tofu pad kaprao and more. Despite the price, the portions are generous. I tried the vegan sausage which has a meaty texture with strong lemongrass flavour, and it came with sticky rice, peanuts, and cucumber. The Chiang Da green noodles was also great with fried mash potato pieces.

Find a seat in the market to enjoy the meal with live music, and soak in the lively market vibes.

INFORMATION

28/3-4 Changklan Rd, Tambon Chang Moi, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

GREEN FOOD

Vegan
Food Stall, Traditional

฿฿฿

B L D N

Inside the popular Kalare Night Bazaar, you'll find this vegan food stall called Green Food Good Soul. It's a fully vegan food serving up a concise menu of freshly prepared dishes like banana flower salad, larb tofu, corn fritters and veggie rolls. The dishes are colourful and tasty. The pricing is straightforward - you can choose to have one, two, or three different items on your plate for a set price, for example 1 dish is 70 baht and 3 dishes is 160 baht.

INFORMATION

Q2M2+W87, Chang Moi Sub-district, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

DOWNTOWN VEGAN GARDEN

ดาวน์ทาวน์ วีแกน การ์เด้น

Vegan

Restaurant, Retro

฿฿฿

B L D N

Downtown Vegan Garden is a vegan restaurant with a cool 60s or 70s retro feel, with a welcoming bar and a setup for a live band. But the real surprise is when you walk towards the back and find a peaceful garden area with a pond in the middle.

The menu has something for everyone, mixing Western dishes like mushroom steak burgers and vegan pancakes, with Thai favourites like khao soi and tom yum soup with dumplings. They also have a cabinet with cake slices like red velvet cake and raspberry crepe cake.

INFORMATION

282, 284 Chang Moi Rd, Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50300, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

MAY KAIDEE

Well-known for their popular cooking classes, May Kaidee is also a restaurant with a mostly vegan menu (egg is available as an optional add-on). You'll find classic pad Thai, pad see ew here, as well as some Issan dishes like numprik pla jea and keang lao.

ASA VEGAN KITCHEN & STUDIO

Located just a short walk from the Tha Phae Gate, Asa Vegan Kitchen and Studio is a trendy, women-owned eatery with a creative arts space. The menu is fully vegan and offers inventive takes on Western dishes like cinnamon & caramelised apple French toast and creamy scrambled chickpea egg on toast, as well as some Thai classics.

V.NAPAPHUD VEGETARIAN

This small, family-run local spot that has a mostly vegan menu. The dishes are budget-friendly, offering a wide variety of meals featuring mock meats, traditional soups, and salads.

SHEWE VEGAN & VEGETARIAN

Located inside Shewe Wana Boutique Hotel, this restaurant offers a calm, resort-style atmosphere with a focus on healthy and organic ingredients. The menu is mostly vegan with the vegan options marked with a yellow circle on the menu.

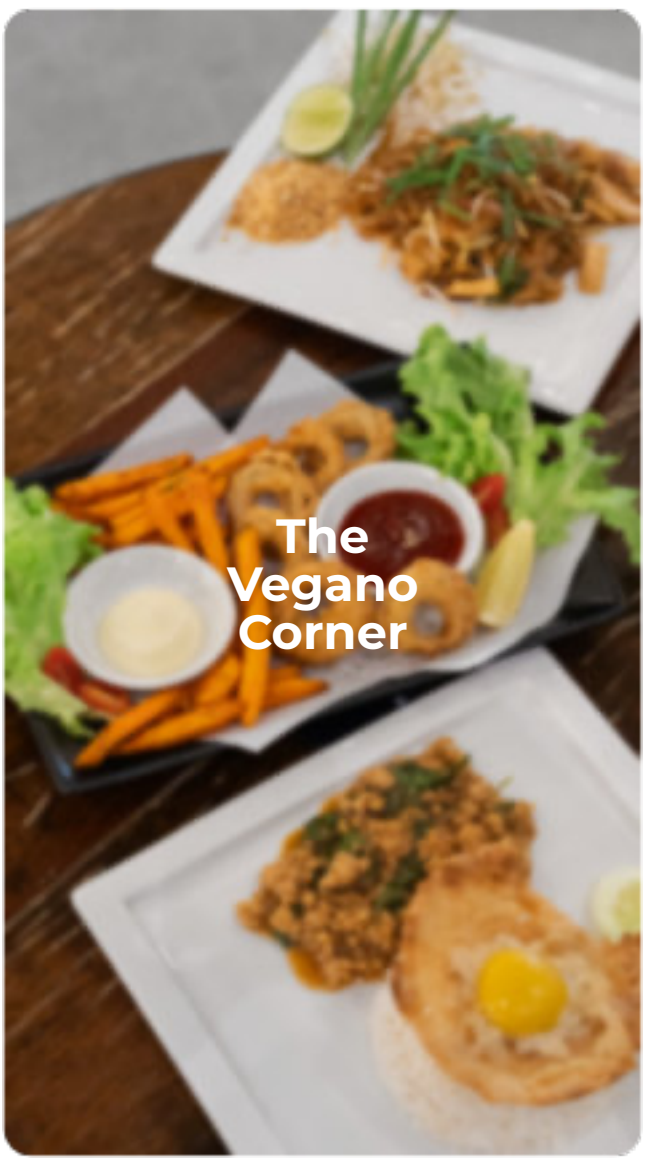
POHSOP LOCAL-RICE EATERY

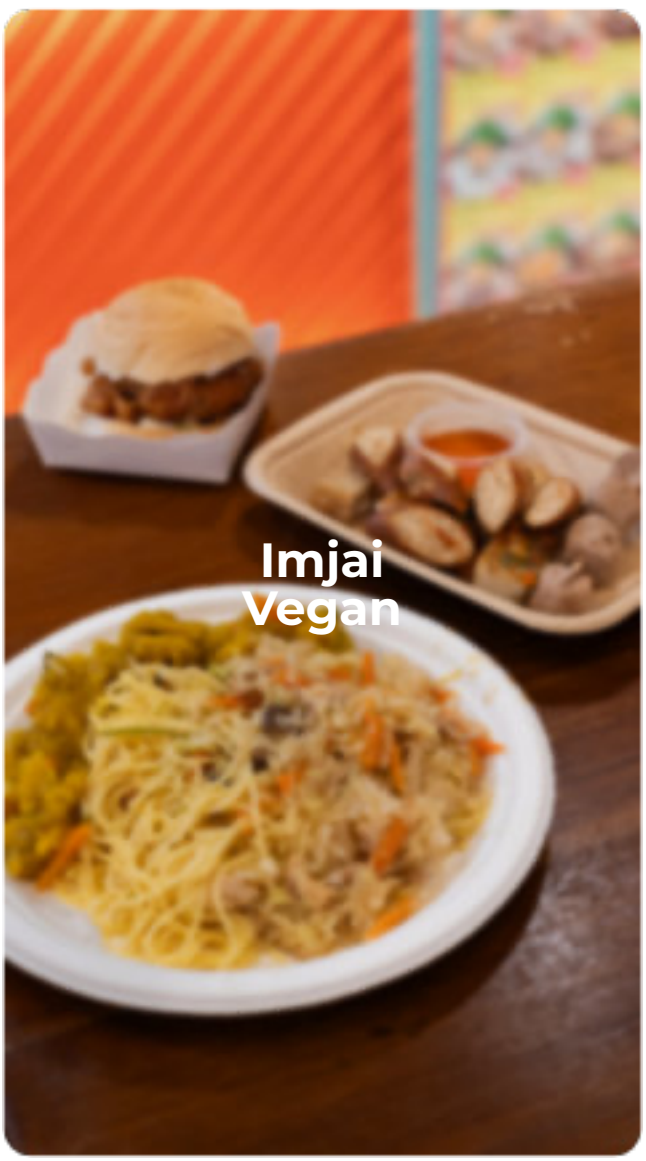
A unique vegetarian eatery with a menu that centres around Thailand's diverse local rice varieties. The vegan options with the yellow and red 'jay' flag. They also offer some vegan cooking classes through Airbnb.

Area Directory - Chiang Mai

West of Old Town
ตะวันตกของเมืองเก่า

Click to jump to restaurant





Chiang Mai — West of Old Town

THE VEGANO CORNER

วีแกนโน คอร์เนอร์

Vegan

Food court, international

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you're visiting the trendy One Nimman shopping complex in Nimman area and need a say and satisfying vegan meal, The Vegano Corner is a great option. Located at the left side of the food court area, this vegan food stall has a good mix of Thai staples, like pad thai and cashew stir-fry, alongside Western dishes like pesto pasta and caesar salad.

I tried a few things here and the food quality was high for a food court eatery. The standouts were the crispy "calamari" which was made from oyster mushrooms, and the classic pad Thai which was tangy and well-cooked. The pad Kaprao had a vegan fried egg with crispy edges and a runny yolk.

► I highly recommend visiting their main restaurant, The Vegano Bistro, which was one of my favourite vegan dining experiences in all of Thailand.

INFORMATION

เลขที 1 วันมาร์เก็ต บล็อก F14 1-1/5 ถ.นิมมานเหมินทร์ Tambon Su Thep, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

Chiang Mai — West of Old Town

IMJAI VEGAN

ฮิมเจ วีแกน

Vegan

Food Court, Traditional

฿฿฿

B L D N

Inside the MAYA Lifestyle shopping centre food court B1 level, you'll find Imjai Vegan for a quick, affordable, and satisfying vegan meal. They serves pre-made vegan dishes where you simply point to the ones that catches your eyes. A simple plate of rice and three dishes will only run you 55 baht. Other than than, they also have other side dishes and snacks like fried radish cake, sausages, mushroom ball skewers, and even a simple vegan burger that has a patty that reminded me of a kofta.

INFORMATION

55, ถนน, Chang Phueak, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50300, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

ANCHAN VEGETARIAN

This restaurant + bakery is a popular vegetarian spot on the West side of Old Town. The restaurant is located on the second floor, and specialises in veg versions of Thai traditional dishes. The vegan options are marked clearly. Menu changes regularly, and they don't use mock meat. Instead, they focus on seasonal veggies sourced from local farmers.

FREE BIRD CAFE CNX DONATION CENTER AND THRIFT STORE

Free Bird Cafe is a social enterprise restaurant with a mission to support education for refugees from Myanmar and indigenous Thai people. The entirely vegan menu features a mix of Burmese and Thai dishes (like Burmese mohingha and rainbow pad Thai), alongside Western dishes (like Mac and cheese and burgers).

ITIM ROI ROS

For those with a sweet tooth, Itim Roi Ros, which translates to "100 Flavors of Ice Cream" is a fun visit. As the name suggests, they have a huge number of ice cream flavours, many of which are highly unique and adventurous. The vegan options clearly marked.

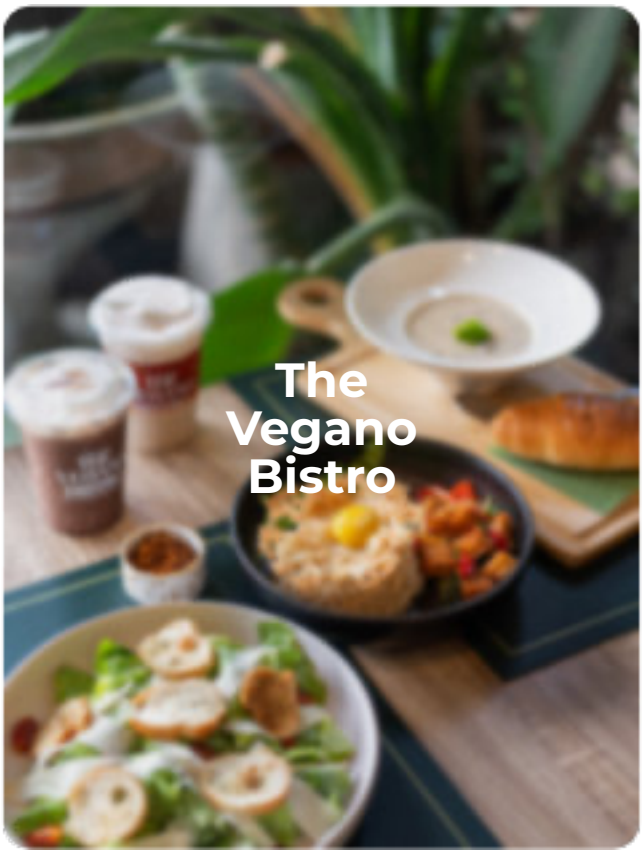
29 COFFTIES

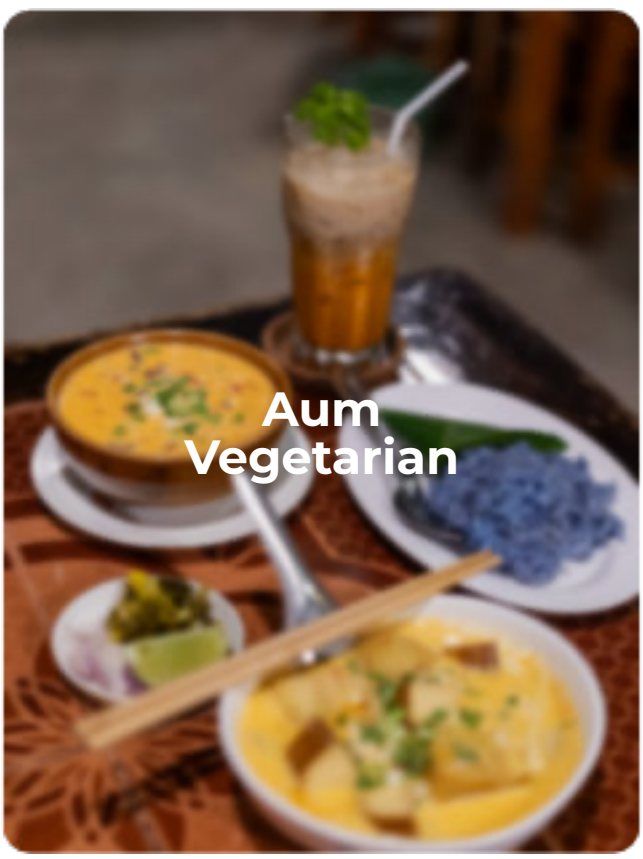
This cozy, family-run vegetarian cafe serves a variety of fresh and healthy dishes from smoothie bowls and Thai salads, to stir-fry and soup noodles.

Area Directory - Chiang Mai

Other Areas
ย่านฮืน ๆ

Click to jump to restaurant





Chiang Mai — Other Areas

THE VEGANO BISTRO

วีเกนโน่ บิสโทร

Vegan

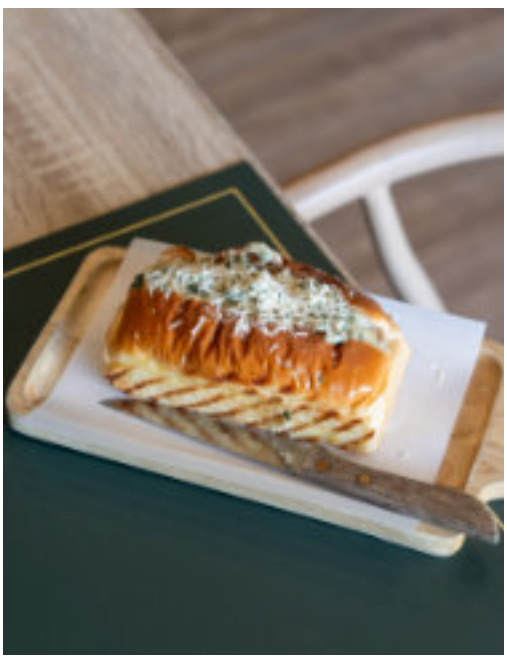
Restaurant, Modern

฿฿฿

B L D N

One of my favourite and most memorable meals in Chiang Mai, Vegano Bistro is a must-visit for any vegans visiting Chiang Mai. Even though the location is a bit out of the way, about a 20-minute drive from the Old Town or Nimman areas, it is absolutely worth the trip for the impeccable and creative dishes.

The menu is huge, offering a mix of Thai and Western food. I was blown away by their kaprao, which featured crispy layered plant-based meat and a perfect vegan fried egg with crispy edges and a runny yolk. The sauce was incredibly deep and flavourful. Western classics are also done well here: The Caesar salad was unbelievably close to the real thing, with a creamy tofu-based dressing, shaved vegan cheese and soy 'bacon' bites.



What really surprised me was how much care they put into every single dish. The mushroom soup, for example, seemed simple at first glance but came with a soft, buttery brioche bun that they made themselves. The same incredible bun was also used for dishes like the Popeye Roll. It's filled with a creamy spinach and mushroom sauce and topped with vegan parmesan.

The excellence extends to the drinks as well, including the rich Thai milk tea and iced chocolate. You'll also find a range of vegan desserts like chocolate lava cake and waffles.

For any vegan travelling to Chiang Mai, I'd highly recommend Vegano Bistro. The dishes are memorable, beautifully presented, and genuinely delicious. Don't let the location put you off; The extra Grab or Bolt ride is a small price to pay for a meal this good.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Just a short drive away is the Royal Park Rajapruek, a huge and beautiful botanical garden. It's a huge and stunning park to spend a few hours wandering through stunning flower displays, themed international gardens, and past the impressive Ho Kham Luang Royal Pavilion.

INFORMATION

69, 69/1 Nong Kwai, Hang Dong District, Chiang Mai 50230, Thailand

MENU

AEEEN JAPANESE VEGAN

อาอีน

Vegetarian

Restaurant, Japanese

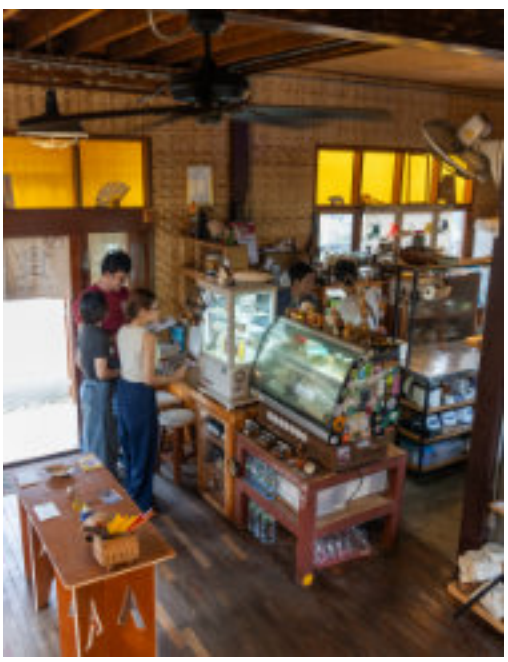
฿฿฿

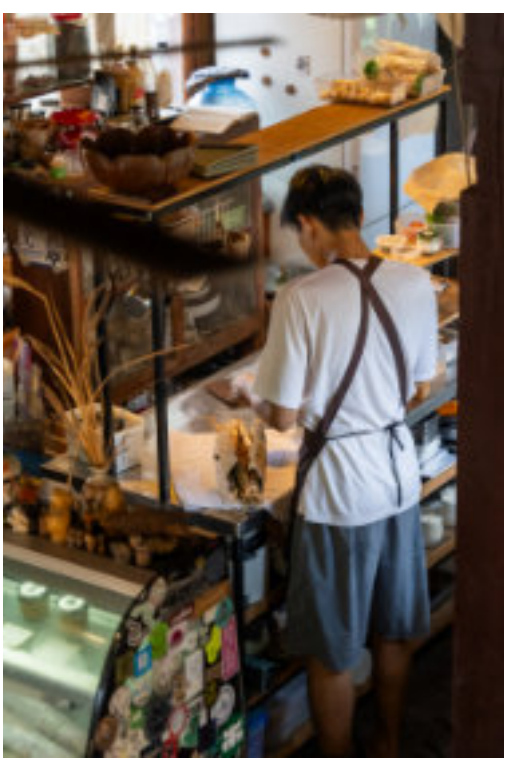
B L D N

Aeeen is a Michelin-recommended Japanese restaurant tucked away in a traditional wooden house that genuinely feels like you've stepped into rural Japan. The whole place has a very calm, homestyle vibe, and I loved seeing the shelves lined with jars of fermented ingredients they use in their cooking. You can even buy some of their sauces and dressings to take home with you.

The menu is based on the Japanese Shojin Ryori style, which is traditional vegetarian cuisine eaten by monks. On the menu, you can find curry rice, rice bowls and more. Almost everything is vegan, but they do offer an egg as an add-on for some dishes.

► Comes with a flexible mindset as some items are limited and might sell out quickly. Two of my original picks were sold out when I arrived at around 1pm.





My personal favourite was the tempe katsu curry rice. The tempeh cutlet was perfectly crispy, and the flavourful curry sauce had a little kick of spice. I also tried the tempe burg-don, which was a rice bowl with a tempeh patty covered in a tangy, gravy-like demi-glace sauce. The tofu karaage was light and spongy, though maybe a little small for the price.

The dishes show the care and passion that goes into the food. Aeeen is a recommended visit for anyone who appreciates thoughtful Japanese cuisine and wants a peaceful escape from the city.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Aeeen is a 15-minute walk to Baan Kang Wat, a charming artisan market that feels like a love-child of Spirited Away and Taiwan's Jiufen. While you're there, look for Aeeen's little kiosk, Aeeen Omusubi, serving fresh onigiri and warabimochi. Just be aware that the kiosk has meat options, but the vegan ones are clearly marked 'Vege'.

INFORMATION

Unnamed Road, Tambon Su Thep, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

AUM VEGETARIAN

ร้านโอมมังสวิรัต เชียงใหม่

Vegetarian

Restaurant, Traditional

฿฿฿

B L D N

Aum Vegetarian is a great spot for home-style Thai food just south of Chiang Mai's Old Town. It’s an open-air restaurant, and while there’s no air conditioning, the fans keep it comfortable, especially in the evening.

The menu is filled with traditional Thai dishes, with a selection of Northern Thai specialties. Most dishes are already vegan, and those that aren’t are clearly marked, plus you can choose your preferred spice level for everything.

Out of the dishes I tried, I really enjoyed the Numprikaong. I ordered it non-spicy, and it was like a creamy, comforting tomato and scrambled tofu stew. I paired it with the blue sticky rice, which came served in a beautiful palm leaf cone. The khao soi tasted good, but I was surprised that their vegan version didn't have crispy noodles on top, which was a signature element of the dish.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

Just a few minutes down back towards Old Town is the Wua Lai Walking Street Saturday Market, which is a lively street market open on Saturday night until 11pm. You'll also be close to the incredible Wat Sri Suphan, famously known as the Silver Temple.

INFORMATION

1, 4 Suriyawong Alley, Haiya Sub-district, Amphoe Mueang Chiang Mai, Chang Wat Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

PA-YOD SHAN FOOD

ข้าวแรมฟืน ป้ายอด เชียงใหม่ อาหารเจ-มังสวิรัติ

Vegetarian

฿฿฿

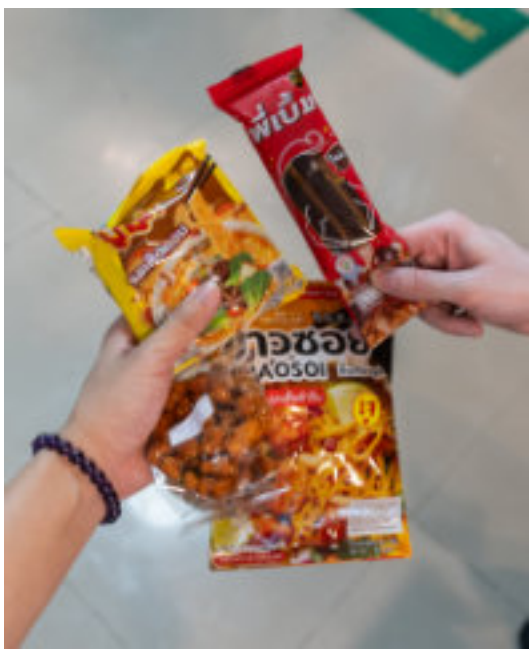
B L D N

Restaurant, Traditional

If you're looking for a cheap and delicious meal just north of the Old Town, Pa-Yod Shan Food is an easy and tasty choice. It's a local spot that serves traditional Thai and Shan dishes.

They have two menus: one is a Shan food menu book and some of the dishes may contain egg, and a separate double-sided page menu that is completely vegan. I ordered from the latter one to be safe. I loved the savoury, flavourful pad see ew. The Hainan chicken rice was also delicious with soft, chewy soy chicken over fragrant rice and a flavourful spicy and tangy dipping sauce.

They also have a shop section with an array of vegan goodies for sale, from ice cream popsicles to crispy 'pork skin' snacks.



► To order, write the dish codes from the menu onto the notepad at your table and hand the paper to the staff at the counter and pay.

INFORMATION

9 1 Atsadathon Rd, Tambon Si Phum, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

ALCHEMY VEGAN

This fully vegan cafe that offers a diverse menu of Western-style comfort foods like paninis, wraps, and salads, as well as a selection of Thai dishes. You'll also find desserts like cakes, gelato, and churros. Originally established as a churreria, it rebranded in 2019 to become the all-vegan eatery it is today, run by a chemist-turned-chef.

KINPHAK CAFE

Kinphak Cafe is a local vegetarian restaurant that serves a large menu of affordable Thai and northern Thai cuisine. While it is a vegetarian establishment, the menu is almost all vegan, with the option to add an egg to certain dishes. Try classic dishes such as khao soi and massaman curry, alongside a wide variety of noodle, rice, and soup options.

JING JAI MARKET

จริงใจมาร์เก็ต เชียงใหม่

Jing Jai Market is one of my favourite markets I've visited in Chiang Mai, especially on a weekend morning. While a section of permanent, independent craft and clothing shops is open daily, the market truly comes alive on Saturday and Sunday. This is when the outdoor spaces fill up with additional farmers market and a huge handmade market where you can find genuine, beautiful crafts from local artists and designers (not the mass-produced souvenirs you may see in other markets). It’s got a great, relaxed atmosphere, and it’s the kind of place you can spend hours browsing.

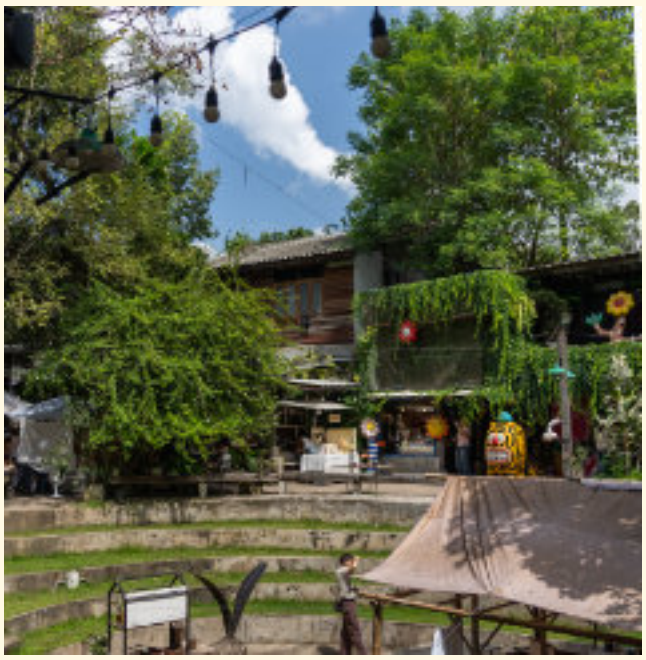
Although there are no vegan cafes or restaurants in this market, I've spotted some interesting vegan friendly food stalls at the food court area:

One of the best things I ate at the market was khanom krok. Look for the stall marked vegan, and for 50 baht, you can get a mixed box of these incredible little coconut pancakes. They are made from a rice flour and coconut cream batter that's cooked in a special pan, making them crispy on the bottom and soft and gooey in the middle. The box included a variety of toppings like taro, corn, and shredded coconut. They tasted amazing and the portion was fantastic for the price.

Another vegan snack I found was khao puk ngaa. It's a warm, chewy pancake made from purple sticky rice. The vendor, whose stall was clearly marked vegan and jay (เจ), made the pancakes fresh, filled the middle with cane sugar and sesame seeds, then rolled it up and cut it into bite-sized pieces. For just 20 baht, it was a perfectly vegan treat.

BAAN KANG WAT

บ้านข้างวัด



Baan Kang Wat is another unique handmade craft market worth visiting in Chiang Mai. It’s a unique artist village tucked away in a leafy area that’s open every day except Mondays. To me, this market reminds me of places like Jiufen in Taiwan, or from a scene in Spirited Away. It's made up of beautiful wooden houses and studios, all connected by winding paths and greenery. It’s a vibrant place, popular with both locals and tourists, so it can get quite busy.

You'll find lots of artist shops selling genuine handmade ceramics, clothing, and art prints, and even take part in workshops. Beyond the crafts, I was happy to find some great vegan food options scattered throughout the market:

You'll find a little red kiosk called Aeeen Omusubi. They sell Japanese onigiri (rice balls), warabimochi and some other snacks. While they have meat options, many options are vegan and clearly marked with the word "Vege". I had the ume mayo musubi, which was a fresh and tasty rice ball filled with pickled plum and soy mayo. The warabimochi was one of the best I've had in a while with a great soft, chewy, stretchy texture. They also have a full restaurant about 15-minute walk away.

Another little shop called Hellococoo sells clearly marked vegan coconut waffles. When you order one, they heat the pre-made waffle up for you in the waffle machine so it's served warm. I tried the chocolate waffle and thought it was pretty decent. It had bits of real coconut meat inside, which gave it a nice contrasting texture.

The Vegan Foodie Guide to Thailand

Phuket
ภูเก็ต

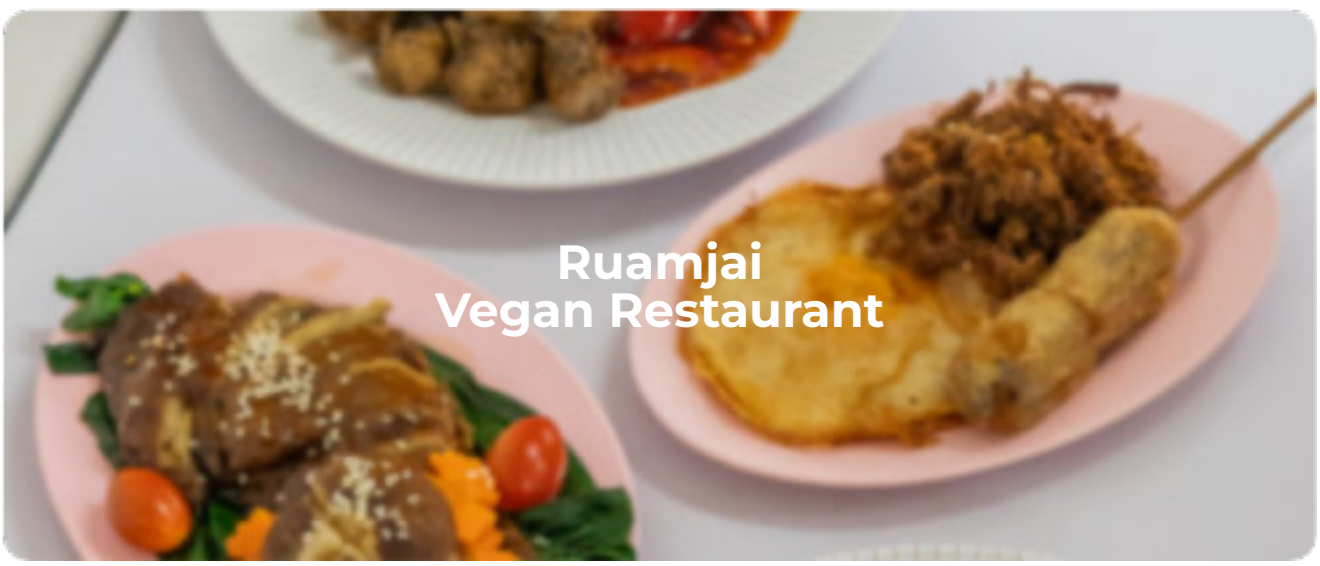
While famous for its stunning beaches and turquoise waters, the island of Phuket is a destination for vegan foodies best known for hosting the world's most impressive vegan food celebration, the Phuket Vegetarian Festival. Beyond this incredible event, you'll find a thriving year-round scene, including high-quality international restaurants like Ubuntu Eat, or a luxurious plant-based resort like Soul Villa.

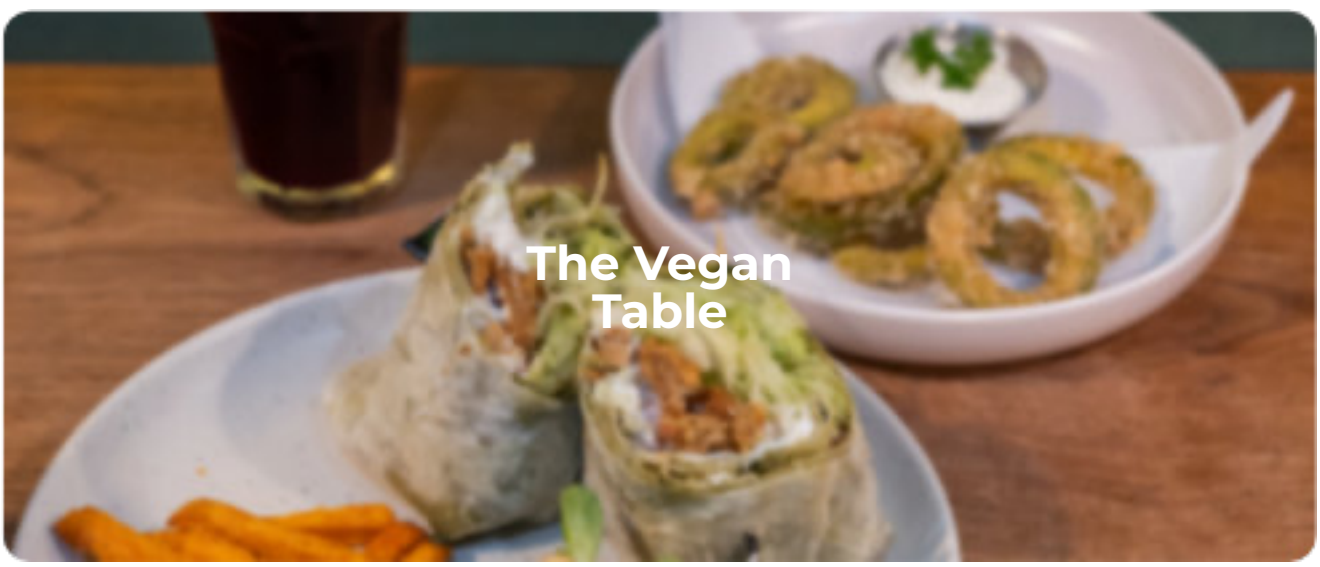
Click to jump to area

Area Directory - Phuket

Old Town
เมืองเก่า

Click to jump to restaurant





UBUNTU EAT

อูบุนตู้ อีท

Vegan

Restaurant, International

฿฿฿

B L D N

Ubuntu Eat is one of the best places to have a vegan meal near Phuket's Old Town. The place is fully vegan and has this huge menu that goes everywhere from Indian and Lebanese to Thai and Western dishes, which is great when you're traveling with someone who might want something different. The staff are friendly and attentive.

With a menu that big, I got to try a bunch of different things, and the quality was high across the board. My personal recommendation is to dive into their Indian specialties. The vegan puneer butter masala was creamy with a tomato flavour that was not too overpowering. It went super well with the chicken tikka biryani. The biryani rice was fragrant, and as it's a Kolkata Biryani, it has a big piece of saffron potato inside, as well as spiced chicken pieces.

If you’re in the mood for sharing, try the mezze platter which has falafel, shawarma veggies, creamy tahini and hummus, or the kebab platter which has 3 kebab skewers, all of which are well-spiced, meaty and tasty. Their signature fish and chips was also delicious with their thousand island mayo dip.

The high quality food extends to desserts and drinks. You'll find from traditional Thai mango sticky rice to chocolate brownie with ice cream. I tried the blue lagoon smoothie bowl, which is a beautiful and tasty treat if you're looking for something lighter.

INFORMATION

135 Phangnga Rd, Talat Yai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

RUAMJAI VEGAN RESTAURANT

ร้านร่วมใจอาหารเจ

Vegan

Restaurant, Traditional

฿฿฿

B L D N

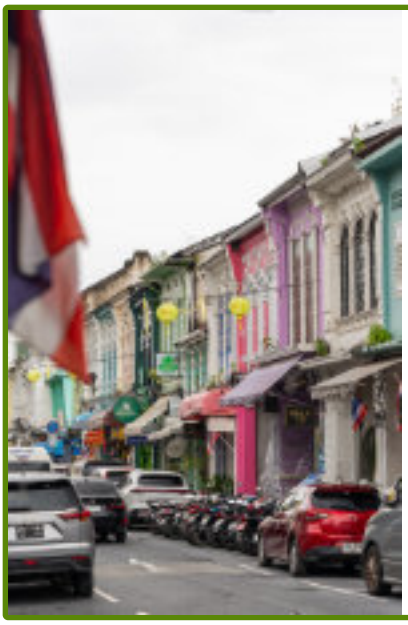
If you’re looking for a truly local and authentic Thai vegan experience in Phuket Town, Ruamjai Vegan Restaurant on Ranong road is a great destination. It’s a busy, no-frills spot on that feels like a real community.

When you walk in, you're greeted by a huge counter loaded with dozens of different dishes. There's no menu, very limited English, so definitely come prepared with a few useful Thai phrases or just point to the dishes that catches your eyes.

After ordering, pay at the cashier in the middle of the restaurant, and then find a seat. It’s lively, a bit chaotic, and an experience that is truly local.

The variety of food here is just amazing, and it's all fully vegan. You'll find everything from rich curries and flavourful stir-fries to all sorts of creative mock meats, skewers, and even vegan eggs. The food was surprisingly flavourful and varied. I loved the sweet and sour stir-fry and curry fish I got here.

As it's very close to the San Chao Jui Tui, which is one of the most important temples in the city, especially for the annual Phuket vegetarian festival. There are also a few other traditional vegan/ vegetarian restaurants on the same road, but I find this one to have the biggest variety of dishes.



ALSO IN THE AREA:

You're just a short walk from the famous Jui Tui Shrine, a beautiful Chinese temple that is the centre of the Phuket Vegetarian Festival. After your meal, I'd suggest a wander through the nearby streets in Old Town to admire the colourful Sino-Portuguese architecture that makes this part of town so unique.

INFORMATION

215 Ranong, Talat Nuea, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

Phuket — Old Town

THE VEGAN TABLE

ตารางมังสวิรัต

Vegan

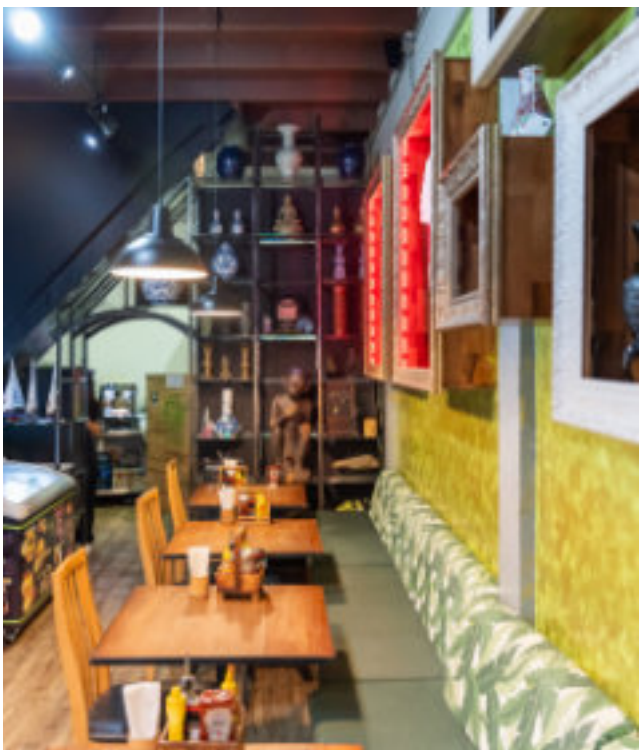
Restaurant, Modern

฿฿฿

B L D N

If you find yourself craving Western comfort food in the middle of Phuket's Old Town, The Vegan Table is a convenient and comfortable option.

The menu is quite large and focuses heavily on familiar favourites like burgers, pizzas, wraps, and even a full English breakfast, which can be a real comfort after a lot of travelling. I tried the chicken and garlic may wrap, and the avocado rings here, but honestly, the food itself was a bit of a mixed bag for me and felt quite expensive for what it was. The wrap used crispy plant-based chicken pieces in a spirulina wrap. It was decent, but I found the flavours could've been stronger. While the avocado rings were creative, they were unfortunately oily and made with avocado that wasn't quite ripe. This place gets a lot of love, so maybe I just caught them on a bad day.



INFORMATION

106 Ratsada Rd, Talat Yai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

VEGAN 'JAY' FINDS IN OLD TOWN DURING VEGETARIAN FESTIVAL

I was lucky enough to be exploring Phuket's Old Town during the annual Vegetarian Festival. It was a truly special time for vegans when many restaurants had special yellow and red 'jay' (เจ) menu, which meant they had specially made vegan food during the week of the festival. While I dive deep into the Phuket Vegetarian Festival later in the guide, I wanted to share some of the amazing spots I saw that offered special 'jay' dishes during my visit.

WYNDOWS

They had a few surprising 'jay' vegan desserts during the festival, including this matcha tiramisu which was smooth and creamy.

22 Ranong Road, Talat Nuea, Amphoe Mueang Phuket, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

ISOLA GELATO

This gelato shop had this biscoff oat milk gelato during the festival, as well as strawberry sorbet and a mixed fruit sorbet which was made with lychee, rhubard and cranberries.

Dibuk Rd, Talat Yai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

NAMUR GELATO

On Ranong Road pretty close to the festival and Wyndows, this roadside ice cream stall had some clearly marked vegan options, including the taro flavour which was delicious.

Ranong, Tambon Talat Nuea, Amphoe Mueang Phuket, Chang Wat Phuket 83000, Thailand

RISE & GRIND

A few options include a tea leaf salad, mushroom kale sandwich and Phuklet mushroom bao.

48 Phuket Rd, Talat Yai, Amphoe Mueang Phuket, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

BONNEE

Clearly marked dishes that can be made vegan including pineapple fried rice, pad Thai and massaman curry with naan.

28 Rommanee Road, Talad Yai, Mueang, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

ICE JAPAN

They had a few sourdough sandwich that could be made vegan, including avocado, mushroom and pumpkin. Be sure to specify vegan when ordering.

40 Yaowarad Rd, Tambon Talat Yai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

XORIN

Their 'jay' festival menu included vegan chicken chilli noodles, BBQ pork buns and fried dumplings.

42, Mueng, Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

THE HIDDENPOT

Located inside Limelight Phuket shopping centre, this cake shop had a few 'jay' fruit cakes including the grape and citrus ones you saw here.

Limelight Avenue Tambon Talat Yai, เมือง Phuket 83000, Thailand

SIMONSAYS

A few clearly marked gelato options including coconut, yuza and mixed berries. These vegan options may extend outside of the festival.

125 1 Phangnga Rd, Tambon Talat Yai, เมือง Phuket 83000, Thailand

MENU

MOTHER COWS

During the festival, this shop had soy milk slushy drinks.

40 Thep Krasattri Rd, Tambon Talat Yai, เมือง Phuket 83000, Thailand

Area Directory - Phuket

The South
(Rawai & Surrounds)
โซนใต้ (ราไวย์และบริเวณใกล้เคียง)

Click to jump to restaurant

PURE VEGAN HEAVEN

เพียว วีแกน เฮเว่น

Vegan

Cafe, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

Just like its Chiang Mai counterpart, Pure Vegan Heaven in Phuket is a reliable spot for fresh, healthy, and beautifully presented vegan food. I visited the Rawai branch, which was set in a big, beautiful garden, making it a super relaxing place to unwind away after exploring the area. They also have another branch in Soi-Taeiad, Phuket.

The menu is extensive. You can expect colourful smoothie bowls, hearty wraps, burgers, and some Thai classic dishes. I went for something lighter and got the nutty bliss bowl, which was a fantastic mix of peanut butter, granola, berries, and banana. It was presented beautifully and made with fresh ingredients.

INFORMATION

ร้านPure Vegan, Soi Saiyuan, Rawai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83100, Thailand

MENU

GO VEGAN CAFE

โกวีแกน คาเฟ่

Vegan

Cafe, Healthy

฿฿฿

B L D N

Go Vegan Cafe is a super cozy and comfortable spot in Rawai that feels part wellness centre, part home-style cafe. They have a welcoming space with both indoor (be ready to take off your shoes) and outdoor seating, and they even host yoga and sound healing classes.

The menu is centred around healthy and nourishing food, with everything from smoothie bowls and wraps to heartier options like pasta and pizza. While I'd heard amazing things, my food experience was a bit mixed. I decided to try the chick-fil-A burger, but the fried tofu patty didn't have much flavour, and the batter wasn't crispy. What saved the meal for me was the tea rose coffee with oat milk which mixed rose syrup with oat milk and coffee, which made it taste like a Turkish delight latte.

INFORMATION

39 6 ภก.4009 Rawai, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83100, Thailand

MENU

Area Directory - Phuket

The West
(Karon, Patong & Surrounds)

โซนตะวันตก
(กะรน · ป่าตองและบริเวณใกล้เคียง)

SOUL CAFE & RESTAURANT

โซล คาเฟ่

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Cafe, Healthy, International

Just a minute's walk from the popular Karon Beach, you'll find Soul Cafe and Restaurant, a beautiful spot that has become one of my go-to recommendations in Phuket. It’s a fully vegan cafe focused on food that is as good for your body as it is for the planet. The whole place has a welcoming, beachy vibe with lovely wooden nautical decor and calming pastel colours.

The menu is packed with tempting options, ranging from all-day breakfasts with vegan sausage and bacon, to hearty Thai dishes and superfood salads. I was so impressed with the attention to details of the food.

I started with the satay tempeh, which came with a flavourful satay dip, but the star for me was the spinach, mushroom, and feta white sauce pizza. The dough, fermented for 24 hours, was soft and digestible, and the vegan cheese on top was creamy and rich. The pasta-free lasagna cleverly used layers of zucchini and eggplant in a rich, flavourful bolognese to make it a healthier option.

Another standout was the crispy tofu with lemongrass curry, served over purple-coloured riceberry rice. The tofu was crispy on the outside, and the curry sauce had this amazing sweet and creamy flavour with a fragrant lemongrass kick.

To drink, the coconut ice cream coffee and fresh watermelon smoothie were exactly what we needed to cool down. They also have some great desserts like Nutella ice cream pie and coconut creme brulee.

After your meal, stop by their little shop section selling vegan snacks, clothing and more. For anyone looking for delicious and wholesome vegan food near Karon Beach, Soul Cafe is a must-visit.

INFORMATION

224 Karon Rd, Karon, phuket, Phuket 83100, Thailand

MENU

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

SANTOSA VEGAN RESTAURANT

Located within the Santosa Wellness Center in Kata, this restaurant offers a health-focused, gourmet dining experience with impressive ocean views. The menu is entirely plant-based and features a creative mix of raw and cooked dishes, including gluten-free pizzas, raw cannelloni, and vibrant zen bowls.

MAE ORATHAI VEGETARIAN

For a more traditional and budget-friendly option, Mae Orathai Vegetarian in Patong is a local eatery. This spot serves a variety of classic Thai vegan dishes, often featuring an array of curries, stir-fried vegetables, and various mock meats. Point and choose from the pre-made dishes that get served with rice.

HARE KRISHNA PURE VEGETARIAN

Located in Patong, Hare Krishna offers a menu of traditional Indian vegetarian cuisine. Although menu doesn't mark which dishes are vegan, you can ask the staff for those that can be made vegan. You can find a range of curries, breads, and rice dishes here.

HIGHWAY CURRY

Highway Curry is an Indian and Thai chain restaurant in the Karon Beach area. Although they serve meat, you'll find a vegan section on their menu with a variety of curries, biryani and kebab.

Area Directory - Phuket

Other Areas

ย่านฮีน ๆ

Phuket — Other Areas

YO VEGAN

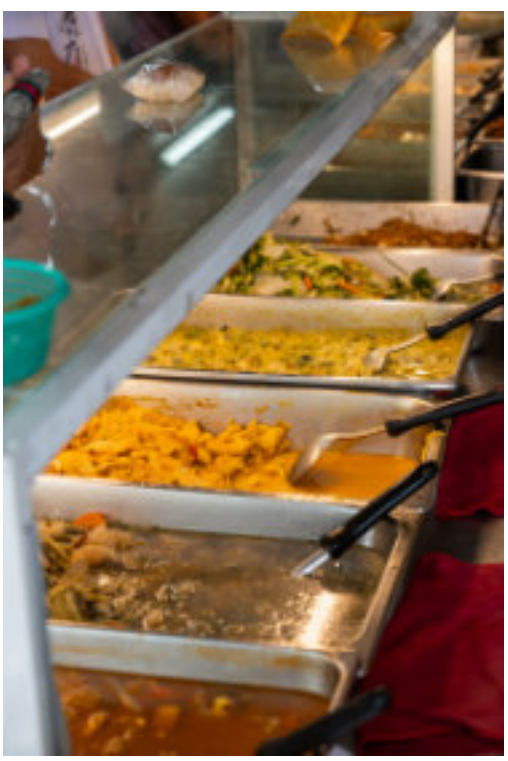
โย โภชนา

Vegan

฿฿฿

B L D N

Restaurant, Traditional



If you want a truly local Thai dining experience in Phuket, Yo Vegan is a great destination. It's a restaurant where locals eat, and during my visit, I seemed to be the only tourist.

A local vegan spot means that there's no English on the menu and stall speaks limited English. They run on a self-serve setup: First, head to the right side of the restaurant where you'll find a delicious-looking spread of pre-made dishes. Once you have the attention of staff, either point to the dishes that catch your eyes or use a few simple Thai phrases to state your preference. They will add the dishes on top of rice for you. After you've made your selection, you take your plate to the central counter to pay (cash only!) before finding a seat.

อาหารต
70.-
50.-
100%

▶ While all the food is vegan, just be careful that the drinks bar on the other side of the restaurant does offer some dairy options.

All the food is vegan here, and I went for a flavourful green curry with vegan sausages and tofu, some crispy soy protein, and a simple stir-fried beansprout dish. While the food wasn't super fancy, it was flavourful and a really good value.

At the entrance, there's also a small shop where you can pick up vegan products to take home. For an incredibly affordable and authentic meal, I'd recommend visiting Yo Vegan.

ALSO IN THE AREA:

After your meal, if you're in the mood for some shopping, Central Phuket Festival is nearby. It's a huge, modern shopping centre with everything you could possibly need, from international brands to local shops and entertainment options, making it a great place to wander around for an afternoon.

INFORMATION

2 Soi Yaowarat 2, Ratsada, Mueang Phuket District, Phuket 83000, Thailand

OTHER VEGAN OPTIONS IN THE AREA

While I didn't get a chance to eat at the following places myself on this trip, they come highly recommended or are well-regarded in the area. I'm including them here so you have as many options as possible for your foodie adventures.

VEGAN PHUKET

You'll find Vegan Phuket south of Old Town. This entirely vegan restaurant has a large and diverse menu, offering everything from traditional Thai dishes to pizzas and cakes at reasonable prices.

EATWISE VEGAN CAFE PHUKET

Located in the Bang Tao area, EatWise Vegan Cafe is a vegetarian cafe with a bright, welcoming vibe. The menu is mostly vegan, with the vegetarian options marked. You can expect to find dishes like quesadillas, wraps, salads, and smoothie bowls.

DOK BUA VEGETARIAN RESTAURANT

Located north of Old Town, Dok Bua is a vegetarian restaurant that serves a wide variety of Thai dishes in a clean, modern setting. The menu is vegan except a few dishes which contain egg. Try flavourful curries, noodle dishes, and mock meat options like grilled soy pork.

Popular Chains with Vegan Options

Sometimes you don't need a full meal, just a refreshing drink to beat the heat or a quick sweet treat while you're out exploring. This section is dedicated to the vegan options that I've discovered in some of the popular chains that you can find all over Thailand.

Chains with Vegan Options

CHATRAMUE

ชาตรามือ

Vegan-option

Drinks

฿฿฿

B L D N

I was so pleasantly surprised to discover that ChaTraMue, the most famous Thai tea brand you'll see all over the country, now offers a clearly marked vegan menu. They use oat milk for the vegan drinks. You can find traditional Thai milk tea, as well as Assam milk tea, black Ceylon tea, matcha, coffee and more.

INFORMATION

Multiple locations all across Thailand

MENU

Chains with Vegan Options

YOK-SOD

หยกสด

Vegan-option

฿฿฿

B L D N

Takeaway, Dessert

If you have a sweet tooth and want to try some traditional Thai desserts, you have to look for this green shop. I've spotted them in malls in both Bangkok and Chiang Mai, and they are a fantastic place to find traditional Thai treats that are naturally vegan. Their specialty is desserts made from pandan and coconut.

Vegan options here include the 'yoksod ball' which are chewy flour balls infused with pandan, soaked in coconut milk; Piakpoon-Kati which is a pandan pudding topped with sesame and coconut milk; Jade sago which is chewy sago with coconut flakes on top; as well as natural pandan juice which is very mildly sweet.

INFORMATION

Many locations across Bangkok, but I've also visited this branch in MAYA shopping centre in Chiang Mai

MENU

Vegan Friendly Hotels & Stays

For most of us vegan foodies, planning a trip revolves around one central question: "Where are we going to eat?" We build our itineraries around must-visit restaurants and cafes, while the hotel is often just a place to sleep because finding a vegan hotel is just so difficult. But in Thailand, the dream of staying at a completely vegan hotel is a reality. Imagine a place where the breakfast buffet is entirely yours to enjoy, the pillows are feather-free, and the on-site restaurant is one of the best vegan spots in the city. On my Thailand trip, I've stayed in and visited some of these amazing vegan properties, and I can't wait to show them to you.

Click to jump to area

AWAY CHIANG MAI THAPAE RESORT

อะเวย์เชียงใหม่ท่าแพรีสอร์ท

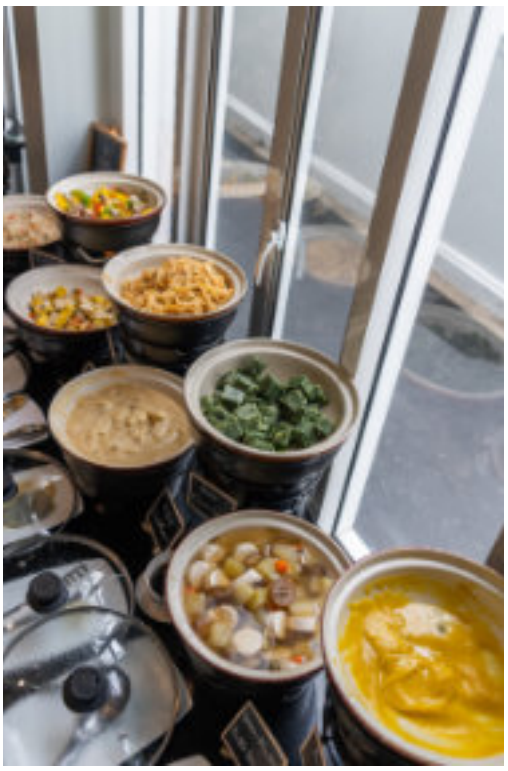
Vegan

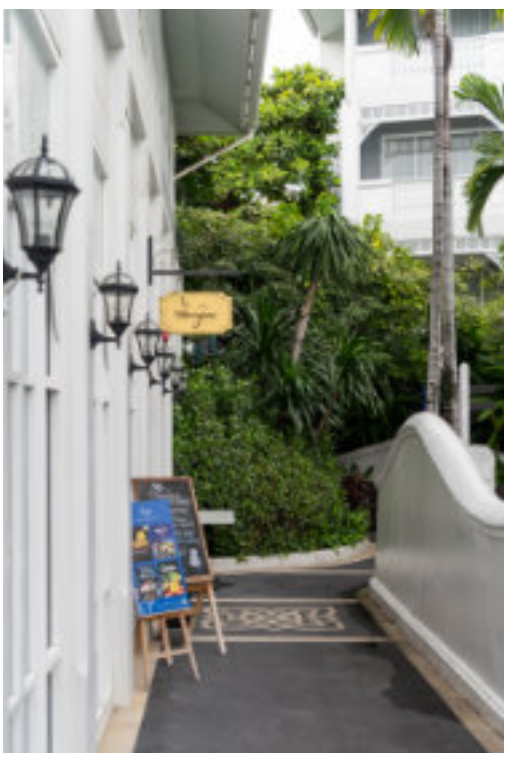
฿฿฿

Resort-style, Convenient, Onsite Restaurant

Away Chiang Mai is such a gem for vegan travellers visiting the city. It isn't just a hotel with vegan option. Instead, it’s a completely vegan resort-style hotel, where every single detail has been thoughtfully designed for plant-based travellers. From the moment you arrive, greeted by the friendly staff with a beautiful blue butterfly pea welcome drink, you know you can just relax and enjoy your stay.

The hotel itself is designed with a modern resort feel, centred around a swimming pool at the heart of the property. The ground floor rooms even have direct pool access. I stayed in one of the deluxe rooms on the top floor that had a balcony overlooking the pool and offered a beautiful sunset view. The rooms are a blend of modern comfort with classic Thai design, including wooden floors, rattan furniture accents, and best of all, a big and comfortable bed. It's also worth noting that Away has an even newer building with more rooms, its own pool, a gym, and a dedicated yoga space for those looking for an even more modern stay. For those who are looking to book, the original building's rooms have blue accents, while the new building's are usually orange.





For me, as a foodie, the absolute highlight is their onsite vegan restaurant - Moreganic. Having that onsite means you can wake up in the morning, head downstairs, and enjoy a hotel buffet breakfast where it's fully vegan. It's a luxury that I thought I had left behind when I went vegan, and it made me so happy to have that experience again.

The buffet breakfast won't overwhelm you with options; What you'll find there are all well-prepared and delicious. During my visit, there were about six or seven hot dishes, including things like fried rice and noodle stir-fries, alongside all the Western breakfast classics like a salad bar, granola station and even a machine that you can make fresh-pressed juice. They also had a small fridge of little desserts like bread pudding and overnight oats, as well as a beautiful selection of seasonal Thai fruits. A buffet breakfast like this is the perfect way to start a relaxing foodie holiday.

► Restaurant last order is 9:30pm.

Other than the buffet breakfast, Moreganic opens all day to provide veganised Thai cuisine and Western classics. They put out specials regularly, and I was lucky enough to try their vegan afternoon tea set. It was a stunning, three-tiered feast of sweet and savoury snacks. It's the kind of thing you'd expect to find at a high-end hotel, but to have it be entirely vegan was just incredible. The restaurant itself is quiet and peaceful, making it a great option if you want something convenient and relaxing directly at the hotel.

Location-wise, the hotel is a 5-minute walk to the Tha Phae Gate, which is the East side of Old Town in Chiang Mai. And it's walkable to many vegan restaurants mentioned in this guide, including Rad Rabbit and Pure Vegan Heaven. On the other direction, you'll find the vibrant Kalare Night Bazaar and Ploen Ruedee Night Market with a 15-minute walk.

Overall, staying at Away Chiang Mai is an experience that makes you feel completely catered for and understood as a vegan traveller. It’s the perfect base for a relaxing, food-focused getaway in one of Thailand’s most beautiful cities.

INFORMATION

9 Thapae Rd Soi 5, Tambon Chang Moi, Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chang Wat Chiang Mai 50100, Thailand

MENU

GREEN TIGER HOUSE

กรีนไทเกอร์เฮาส์

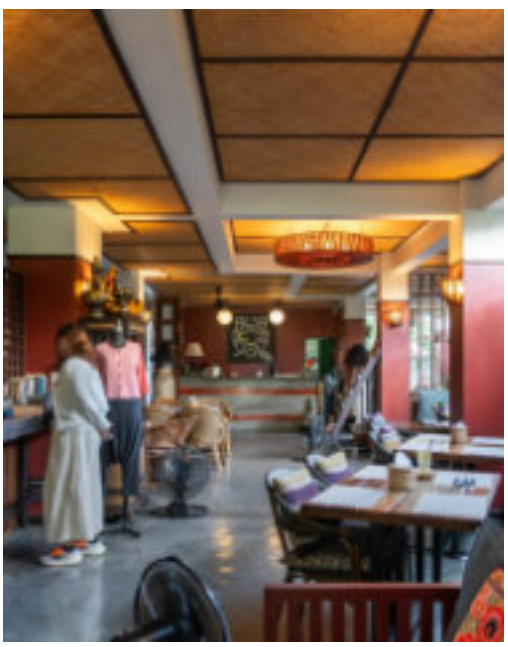
Vegan

Convenient, Onsite-Cafe

฿฿฿

If you're looking for a friendly and relaxed vegan home base right in the heart of Chiang Mai's historic Old City, then Green Tiger House is a great option. It has more of a social, guesthouse feel than compared to Away Chiang Mai. Its main advantage is the convenience of having temples, markets, and shops inside Old Town in walking distance.

► Say hi to one of the cats on property. I met their 'boss' and 'chief pillow tester' - Hero.



They have an on-site vegan cafe, Reform Kafe, with many Thai and international food options. The cafe is set in a beautiful, lush garden courtyard that feels peaceful and relaxing, and it's run by the same team behind the beloved Goodsouls Kitchen.

Green Tiger House has a swimming pool, and a rooftop terrace that overlooks the nearby temples and Doi Suthep mountain range in the distance, which is especially beautiful around sunset.

INFORMATION

1 1/4 ถนน Sripoom 7 4 Alley Mueang Chiang Mai District, Chiang Mai 50200, Thailand

SOUL VILLAS BY THE BEACH

โซล วิลล่า

Vegan*

Villa, Private, Beachfront, Onsite Cafe

฿฿฿

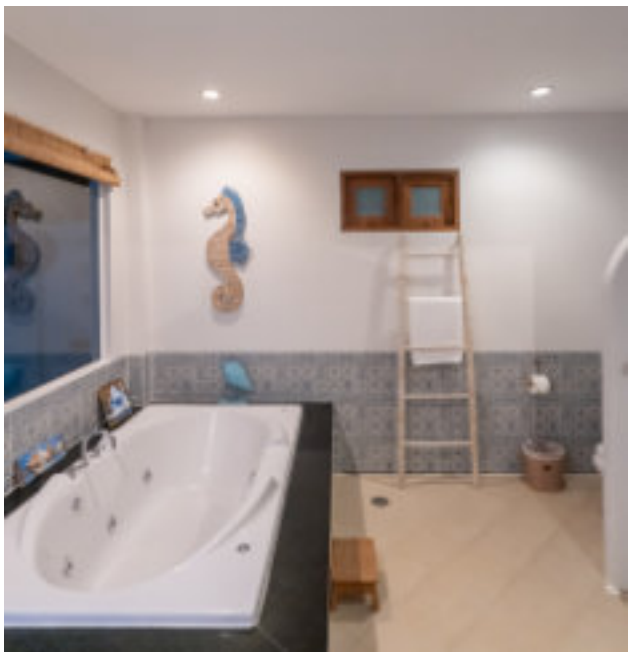
If your idea of a perfect getaway involves waking up to the sound of ocean waves in a beautiful, secluded villa, then you need to know about Soul Villas.

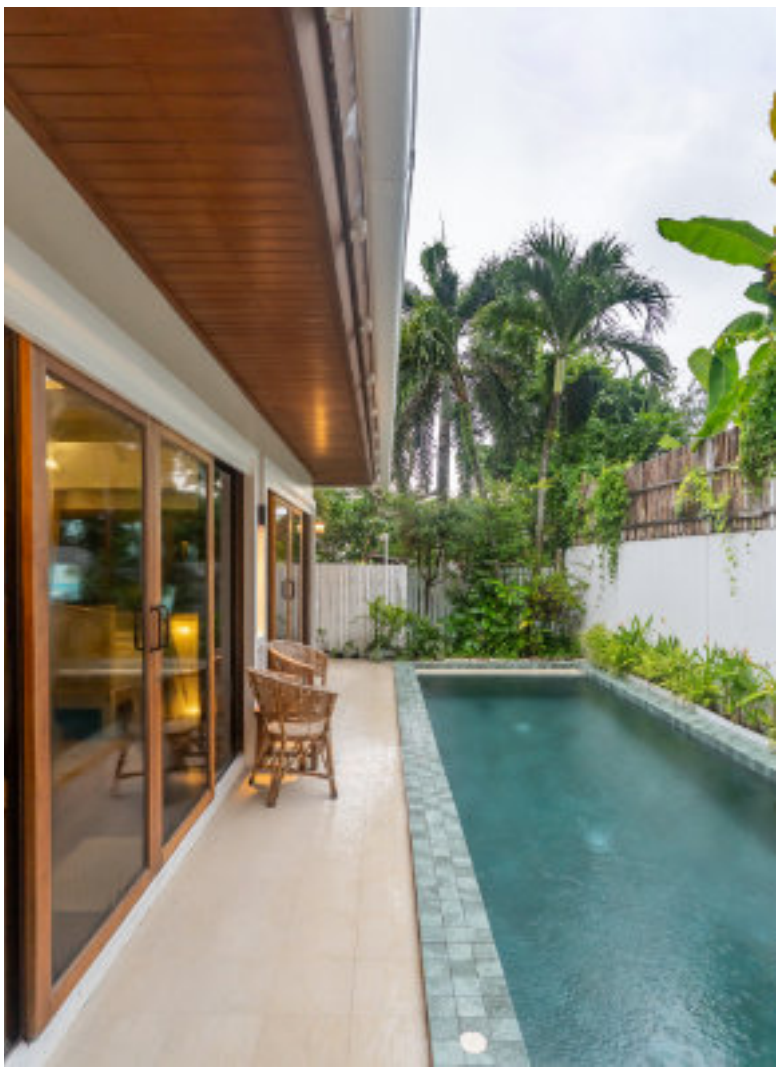
Tucked away on a hillside that slopes directly onto the beach, this property is a truly quiet and private escape. With only six villas on the entire property, it feels less like a hotel and more like your own private slice of Phuket beach paradise. The staff are incredibly welcoming, helping with luggage up and down the stairs that connect the villas, making you feel cared for from the moment you arrive. The welcoming blue butterfly pea drink with gold flakes on top continue that hospitality.

I stayed in villa number five, named 'Sail Away,' and was immediately blown away by the space and thoughtful details. The villa is big, with an open layout that flows from a cozy sofa area to a massive, comfortable bed, and then to a dining space and bathroom at the back. Waiting for me on the huge bed was a beautifully folded towel swan, fresh flowers, and a personalised welcome note that made guests feel special. The decor is inspired by the sea, with lots of wood and beautiful art pieces creating a calm, nautical vibe. Even the snack bar is stocked with reasonably priced vegan goodies, which is such a treat.

The sense of private luxury continues as you walk through to the back of the villa. The bathroom is also enormous, with an open-plan design featuring a standalone bathtub, a rainfall shower, and more unique art pieces. But the real showstopper is just outside: your own private pool that runs the length of the villa.

It was absolutely amazing to be able to step out of my room for a swim whenever I wanted. There are lounge chairs set up at the back, and you can even book a massage and have it right there in the comfort and privacy of your own villa. And when I say it's by the beach, I mean it - you are literally a 30-second walk from the sand. I could hear the comforting crash of the waves as I fell asleep at night.





Soul Villas has an onsite vegan cafe serves everything from breakfast to dinner, and you can choose to eat at the cafe, in your villa, or even arrange for a romantic dinner setup on the beach.

The breakfast is especially generous and amazing. Each person can choose two main dishes and two drinks. The menu has everything from a classic 'all-day breakfast' with scrambled tofu and sausages to smoothie bowls, waffles, and sourdough toast. They did have egg as one of the dishes during my visit. My personal recommendation has to be the vegan omelette and the Soul Love waffles. On top of your chosen dishes, they also give you a complementary plate of fresh, seasonal fruit.

For a truly unforgettable experience, you can upgrade your breakfast to a 'floating breakfast'. This was one of those luxurious travel moments I didn’t even know I needed until I had it. They arrange the most beautiful spread of your chosen dishes in a large, heart-shaped basket, decorate it with fresh flowers, and bring it right to your private pool. It felt like such a special experience.

The food is just as great at other times of the day. For a hotel that only has 6 villas, their menu and food quality are impressive. From heart-shaped pizza to Thai salads, you could stay at the hotel all day without having to worry about lacking in food options.

For dinner, I tried and loved their Massaman curry, which was creamy, rich, and full of flavour. For dessert, the chocolate 'Nutella' pancake was also great. The villa's friendly resident cat - Lisa - may come say hi when you are having dinner.

Soul Villas is a great choice for vegan travellers who want to relax and enjoy the peace of Phuket beach while indulge in some tasty food. While the price is higher than an average hotel stay, for a special occasion or a romantic retreat, it is worth every penny.

INFORMATION

5/13, 5/16-18, Wichit, Phuket, 83000, Thailand

MENU

Vegan-Friendly Hotels & Stays

NA VAYLA PAPLERN

ณเวลาพาเพลิน

Vegan

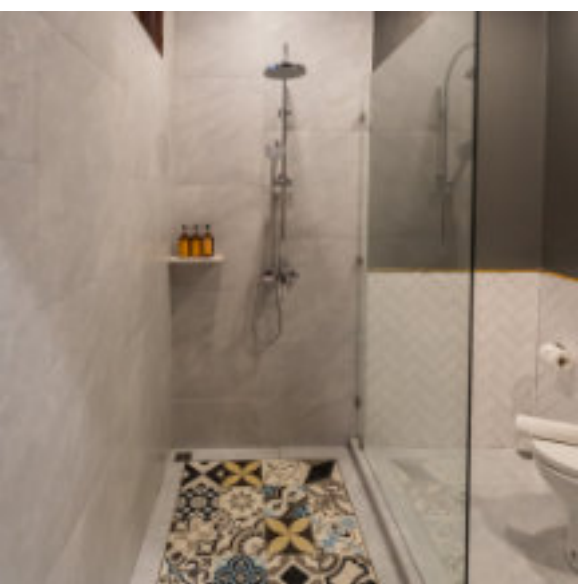
Vegan Guesthouse, Onsite Cafe

฿฿฿

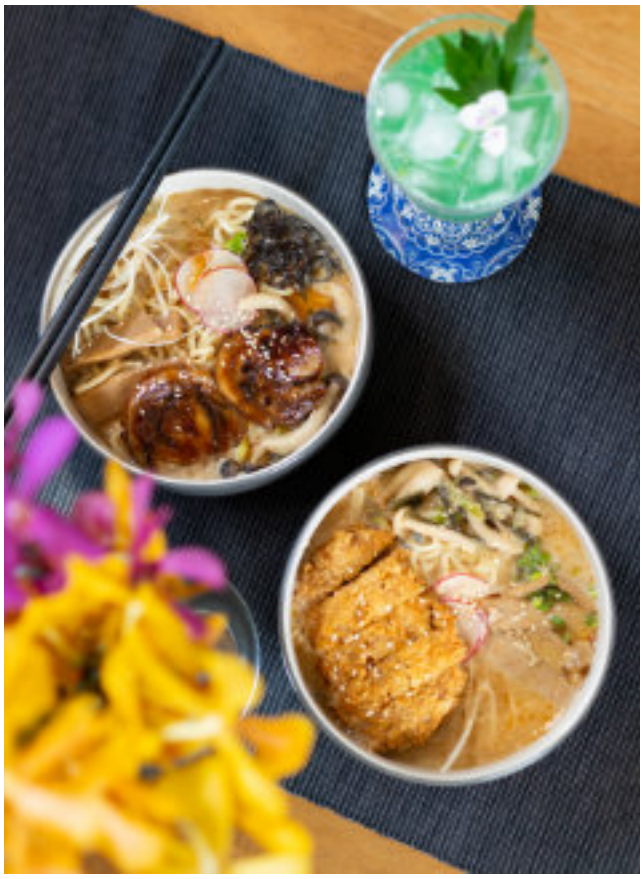
Tucked away in a charming, non-touristy part of the city, Na Vayla Paplern is a hidden gem that offers an authentic Bangkok living experience. Its location may be a bit removed from main tourist hubs like Sukhumvit and Siam, but it’s only a 5-10-minute walk from the Bang Khun Non MRT station, which means the rest of the city is still incredibly easy to explore.

The guesthouse itself is intimate and quiet, with only one or two rooms on each floor. This makes the whole experience feel peaceful. You take your shoes off before heading upstairs to guest rooms. The rooms are modern and clean, equipped with everything you'd expect from a contemporary hotel room. They also have a rooftop terrace on the top floor, a shared space with lounge chairs and even washing machines for guests to use. From up there, you get a unique view of the city, including the nearby river and local temples.

► The staff during my visited was incredibly friendly, but spoke limited English. So be patient and use Google translate to communicate.



One of the biggest surprises at Na Vayla Paplern was the food. I wasn't expecting a small guesthouse to have such an amazing on-site cafe. The ground-floor cafe is 100% vegan and serves an impressively large international menu from Thai classics to Western comfort food. I decided to try some of their Japanese options, including the tonkatsu and chashu ramen, and they were both restaurant-quality. The broth was rich and creamy, the noodles were cooked perfectly, the chashu meat was umami, and the katsu cutlet was crispy and substantial. The cafe is so good that I'd even recommend to vegans who are not staying in this hotel to visit.



INFORMATION

48/98 Bang Khun Non Rd, Bang Khun Non, Bangkok Noi, Bangkok 10700, Thailand

MENU